Chimp Is Recovered All-OK After Orbiting Earth Twice

River Basin Group Will Meet Friday

(Special to The Daily Record)

WASHINGTON — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall has designated his solicitor, Frank Berry, and Henry P. Caulfield, assistant solicitor, to represent him at the first meeting of the Delaware River Basin Commission.

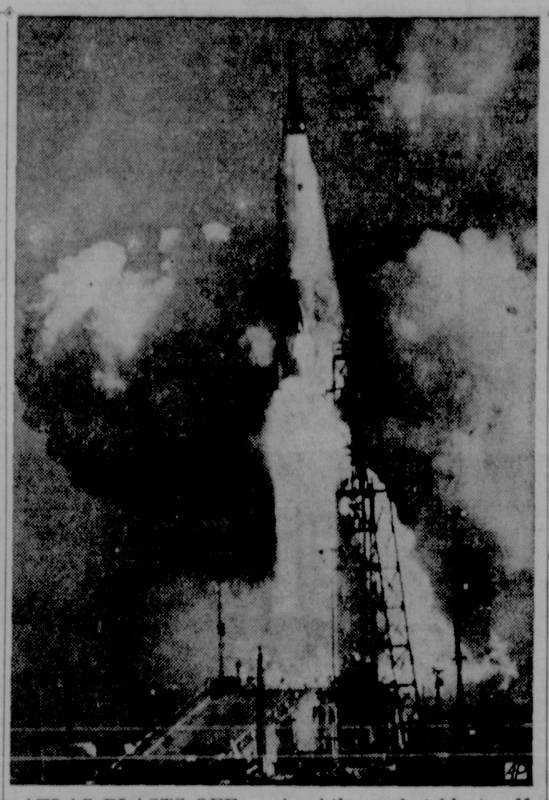

The alternates of the four states involved will attend the meeting at 10:30 a.m. Friday at the Midday Club in Philadelphia.

Representing the four governors, who earlier were named the commissioners, will be Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, Pennsylvania's secretary of forests and waters, representing Gov. David L. Lawrence; Matt Adams, New Jersey, for Gov. Robert Meyner; Harold Wilm, New York, for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, and Norman Lack, for Gov. Elbert Carvel, Delaware.

The full commission, including Udall, will meet at 9:30 a.m. on Dec. 13 at Gov. Meyner's mansion in Trenton, N.J.

At the latter meeting, recommendations will be made on the appointment of an executive secretary and selection of a commission headquarters.

Stroudsburg, Easton and Morrisville, N. J., are front-runners in the preliminary discussions dealing with a commission headquarters.

ATLAS BLASTS OFF — An Atlas rocket blasts off from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Nov. 29, with Enos, the chimpanzee, riding a capsule atop it. Enos orbited the earth two times instead of the intended three because of trouble with capsule systems. He parachuted safely into the Atlantic 500 miles southeast of Bermuda.

Glenn Named To Be U. S. Man-In-Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The United States rocketed an able ape named Enos twice around the world Wednesday and then named astronaut John H. Glenn to travel the same trail.

Glenn, 40, is a Marine lieutenant colonel with thinning red hair and an expansive grin. Navy Lt. Cmdr. Scott Carpenter, 36, was named as Glenn's backup pilot.

Announcement of the astronauts' assignments came at a news conference a few hours after the 37½-pound chimp had been launched at 10:07 a.m., on what turned out to be a partially successful flight.

Enos had been scheduled to whiz around the world three times but his trip was cut to twice around after the spacecraft developed troubles.

On his flight Enos zipped around the globe at altitudes ranging from 99 to 146 miles and attained a top speed of 17,500 miles per hour.

Enos landed safely in the Atlantic Ocean, 255 miles southeast of Bermuda at 1:28 p.m. He was picked up by a destroyer and was raced to Bermuda for medical examination.

The 5½-year-old chimp was due to arrive in Bermuda at 5 a.m., Thursday for a preliminary physical and he then will be flown back to Cape Canaveral.

Selection of the astronauts for specific space chores does not necessarily mean that the United States is now embarked on an all-out program to place a man in orbit before year's end.

Indeed, Robert Gilruth, Project Mercury director, specifically declined to say what affect the Enos' flight would have on U.S. space plans.

The partial success of the Enos flight may have jarred U.S. hopes for 1961 considerably.

At the news conference Gilruth read a prepared statement detailing the astronauts' next space chores.

Donald B. Slayton was named to pilot the second orbital mission with astronaut Walter Schirra backing him up.

Alan B. Shepard Jr., who made America's first space flight was appointed technical director for the Glenn-Carpenter team.

Virgil I. Grissom, the second U.S. space traveler, was selected as technical adviser for Slayton and Schirra.

Nearly twice around the flight seemed absolutely perfect. On each leg of the journey the reports from the 18 tracking stations and ships scattered around the world were flashed with a cheering monotony.

Near the end of the second orbit, the data flowing back to earth began to indicate something wrong with the space capsule carrying the 5½-year-old chimp.

There were indications of over heating in some of the spacecraft's electrical equipment and abnormal operations of the controls which maintain the vehicle on a stable course.

A signal to fire the braking rockets was flashed at 1:08 p.m. to the space ship from the Point Arguello, Calif., tracking station.

The space ship began the long descent, its blunt nose glowing like a fading comet as the temperatures built up to around 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

One purpose of the flight was to determine whether a U.S. astronaut could make a similar flight safely and whether a man could carry out manual tasks while undergoing prolonged weightlessness.

All the telemetered data from the space capsule showed that Enos was a real beaver for work and that weightlessness affected him not a whit.

Enos worked throughout for a pile of banana-flavored pellets and sips of water.

Another purpose was to test the world wide tracking and communications system. It worked perfectly.

So did the 360,000-pound thrust Atlas booster which hoisted Enos aloft at 10:07 a.m. from Cape Canaveral.

On blastoff, Enos' heartbeat shot up to 150 per minute, but then slowed quickly to between 105 and 120. His respiration jumped to 30 breaths a minute and then fell off to normal—20 to 25 inhalations per minute.

Through the flight Enos' body temperature remained at a normal 98 degrees.

Importance Of Reserves On Active Duty Stressed By JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy offered hope Wednesday to Reservists he said were summoned to active duty "to prevent a war" that they may be out of uniform in less than the required 12 months.

"We call them in to prevent a war, not to fight a war," Kennedy said. "We are going to get them out as quickly as we can."

Kennedy bristled a bit about the whole subject. He put in more time on it than on any other at a 31-minute news conference that spread out over such matters as an ape in space, fallout shelters, and the possibility of an eventual visit to the Soviet Union.

This was against a background of published reports about Reservists having poor equipment, little to do or being square pegs in round holes. Rep. Alvin O'Konsky, R-Wis., has said the Army showed criminal negligence in the handling of Wisconsin's 32nd National Guard Division at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Kennedy answered a questioner who asked about complaints of Reservists that most of them are making heavy sacrifices; that they gave up jobs and their lives are disturbed. The President said they are performing a vital service.

Reservists were called up, he said, because the administration felt U.S. conventional forces lacked sufficient strength at a time of increased tension in Viet Nam and a clash of interests over Germany and Berlin.

The important thing, he said, "is to maintain the peace, and they are helping to do it," however unsatisfactory it may be to be sitting in a camp. Men are bound to be unhappy, he said, at camps that have been newly opened or where equipment may not be available immediately.

But he said a story that the Pentagon has determined to keep Reservists on active duty for more than a year for which they were called was wholly wrong. He said this never has been suggested, and: "It is our hope to get these men out before their 12 months period."

A clear hint developed that the President is considering a trip outside the country next month, but there was no indication where he might go or for what purpose. He seemed to rule out Europe. And he said a trip somewhere else "depends on circumstances which may develop in the future."

Latin America has been mentioned frequently as a possibility for a presidential visit.

The opening question at the news conference dealt with the Dominican Republic and whether the United States might use force to prevent, for example, any attempt by Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba to overthrow an existing government.

U.S. naval forces, Kennedy said, appeared off the Dominican Republic because of a "feeling that steps might be taken" there that would shatter hopes for a democratic solution to the country's problems.

On the broader phase of the inquiry, the chief executive said that as a member of the Organization of American States, the United States would be concerned and have responsibilities if one country used force against another.

As for a trip to the Soviet Union, during which he might speak to the people as Soviet Premier Khrushchev did on a visit to the United States in 1959, Kennedy said no invitation has been extended. While listing conditions, he didn't bar the door to a visit later on. Again mentioning Germany, Berlin and Southeast Asia, he said important problems "must be solved before such a visit would be rewarding on either side."

Other Highlights Of Conference

ON ASSORTED other topics, President Kennedy gave his views on these subjects at his press conference in Washington yesterday:

FALLOUT SHELTERS—A civil defense program emphasizing community shelters will go to Congress in January. But a booklet will be distributed soon telling individuals what they can do in their own homes to increase their safety.

BERLIN — Negotiations hinge now on the outcome of a meeting next week between President Charles de Gaulle of France and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany.

SHAKEUP—A shuffling of 10 administration officials over the weekend was intended to provide a better matching of men, tasks and responsibilities. Chester Bowles went out as undersecretary of state and Kennedy said his talents will be used more effectively as an adviser on Asia, Africa and Latin America.

RIGHT-WING MOVEMENTS — As long as contributions to them comply with the tax laws, the federal government cannot and should not interfere with the right of any individual to support any movement he chooses.

CHINA—Kennedy said he felt in 1949, and still does, that it would have been wiser for the United States to make a greater effort to prevent the loss of the Chinese mainland to the Communists. But he said he would put less emphasis now on personalities than he did in a 1949 speech.

MEDICAL RESEARCH — More would be spent on this if it could be done usefully. But a $60-million cut ordered by Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff still leaves the spending level 25 per cent above that of a year ago—and higher than the Kennedy budget and the amount voted by the House of Representatives.

Kennedy's Interview Hailed As Step Forward By West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Kennedy's interview with Izvestia's editor was looked upon by much of the Western world as the opening of a new frontier behind the Iron Curtain that could bring better understanding of Western views.

Reaction was mixed among Russians interviewed in Moscow.

Most found it hard to believe the statement of the President to Alexei Adzhubei, editor of the Soviet government paper, that West Germany has a puny nine army divisions and is no threat to the Soviet Union.

Several said they thought Kennedy showed unfriendliness toward the Soviet Union in several of his statements.

An Izvestia dispatch from New York, however, called the interview a "step forward in Soviet-American understanding." And office-holding Russians in Moscow appeared to regard that as a good thing.

A sampling in Western Europe brought these comments from persons met on the streets:

"Kennedy's arguments were excellent and crystal clear to anyone willing to give them a look"—Dutch law student.

"There is no doubt to me that this gives everyone some hope"—a Danish housewife.

"We don't want to be Communists and President Kennedy is right in telling that Russian fellow the people should be allowed to choose what they want to be"—post office employe Johann Schmitt in Bonn, Germany.

The Soviet press almost ignored the interview which the four-million circulation Izvestia printed in full

But newspapers in Western Europe gave it wide play.

Western diplomats centered their attention on two points—the President's statement that he believes it wise West Germany should not have nuclear weapons, and his suggestion that an international administration of some kind control the West's access routes to Berlin.

A British Foreign Office spokesman welcomed the interview as a means of international communication. But he said the President was not stating an agreed Western position when he suggested international control of Berlin's lifelines. He said the Western powers had not yet settled on that idea.

London's Conservative Daily Mail called the interview "the most remarkable event of its kind for many years. For the first time the Western case has been given in a leading Communist newspaper."

But the Swiss Gazette de Lausanne said "much time will be needed and many more interviews to dispel the Soviet distrust."

In France, Paris-Presse remarked that perhaps Khrushchev wanted the President's indirect help in creating a new psychological atmosphere in the Soviet Union.

In West Germany, the Christian Democrat party's foreign affairs expert, Ernst Majonica, wrote in the party press service:

"One must be grateful to Kennedy that he again emphasized with precision and clarity the determination of the West to preserve freedom in West Berlin."

Adenauer Claims West Must Concentrate On Berlin Issue

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's new government set forth a new policy Wednesday, declaring that immediate negotiations with the Soviet Union should concentrate on abolishing the Berlin crisis.

Heretofore, the West German government has insisted that the Berlin question should be discussed only in connection with the entire German problem —including the reunification of Germany and European security.

Government officials said it was safe to assume that Adenauer and President Kennedy in their meetings in Washington last week reached agreement on virtually all points brought up in a declaration of policy read Wednesday before the Bundestag, or parliament.

The declaration was read by Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in the absence of Adenauer who is ill with grippe.

"In regard to the question of European security it is the opinion of the federal government that this question has no connection with the Berlin crisis," the statement said.

Only when the Russians are ready to discuss the restoration of German unity can security problems be discussed, the government maintained.

Diplomats felt the reason for the switch is Adenauer's increasing fear that any talk about security outside global disarmament could lead to concessions such as a thinning out of military forces in West Germany.

Any establishment of security zones involving reduction of forces in West Germany, Adenauer has maintained, could mean the loss of West Germany to communism.

Adenauer said in the declaration that his meetings with President Kennedy "have shown once again that we—Americans and Germans—can rely on one another."

"The meeting which I had a few days ago with the President of the United States of America is a striking expression of the fruitful links between the members of the North Atlantic Pact," Adenauer said. "In this alliance a special role of leadership falls to the United States."

The government said it was for negotiations with the Soviet Union but only if there was prospect of a reasonable solution.

It stated three principles which must remain untouched:

The security of West Germany.

The maintenance of the existing political, legal and economic ties between Berlin and West Germany, including access for the civilian population.

A common policy with regard to Germany—reunification, nonrecognition of the East German Communist regime and settlement of the frontier question in a peace treaty with an all-German government.

Government officials said their policy declaration will be taken up with the French and British at the foreign ministers' conference in Paris Dec. 11-12.

Riots Mark General Strike In Dominican Republic Unrest

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP — Roving mobs clashed repeatedly with troops and police on this second day of a general strike attempt to topple President Joaquin Balaguer's government.

Heavily armed troops and police backed by fire engines poured into downtown streets in large numbers Wednesday and used tear gas and billy clubs to disperse unruly crowds that forced a few stores to close their doors again after they had dared open up.

Streets were littered with broken glass and rocks. Crowds stoned passing taxis that resumed operations. One taxi clearly marked "United States Press" was threatened by three young girls holding stones and shouting, "We don't want Yankees."

One group identifying itself as representative of the nation's professional class delivered a letter to U.S. Consul General John Calvin Hill and urged the United States to use its influence to prevent "the installation of a new military dictatorship."

Four members of the group called on Hill and stayed inside the consulate for about 20 minutes. Hill was reported to have urged them to stay calm.

The crux of the uneasy situation appeared to be the opposition's insistence that Balaguer bow out and remove the last representatives of the old Trujillo dictatorship from positions of influence. Balaguer was said to have offered elections within six weeks provided he is allowed to stay as interim president.

Negotiations continued between the largest of the opposition groups, the National Civic Union, the delegates from the national palace but there was no word of new developments.

Lawrence Names Monaghan As Secretary Of Commerce

HARRISBURG (AP)—Retiring Mayor Thomas Joseph Monaghan of Lancaster, the third Democrat to hold that office in the city's 231-history, was named Wednesday as secretary of commerce of Pennsylvania.

Gov. Lawrence, in announcing the appointment of the 47-year-old Monaghan, told his weekly news conference that the state was fortunate to get his services, explaining:

"His career has been in industry and government; it is in these very areas that we need the best talent available if we are to continue to meet the challenge of keeping Pennsylvania's economy vibrant and growing."

Monaghan, who was not present at the news conference, said in Lancaster that he considered the appointment "a distinct honor and a tremendous challenge."

"I intend to give it all the zeal, enthusiasm, and attention possible," Monaghan added. "This is one of the most important assignments in the Commonwealth because of the vital need of selling Pennsylvania, and the importance of revitalizing the economy of Pennsylvania."

Monaghan will be sworn in Friday and take his place in the governor's cabinet. He will serve out his term as mayor, however, and Gov. Lawrence said the new secretary would not go on the state payroll for the $20,000 annual salary of that office until Jan. 1.

Monaghan won election as mayor in 1957, becoming the first Democrat to take over city hall at Lancaster since the Democratic landslide of 1933. His bid for another four-year term was lost earlier this month to Republican George B. Coe.

The Monaghan appointment fills a vacancy created Oct. 21 by the death of William R. Davlin.

Monaghan is a native of Mahanoy City, where he was elected to his first public office at age 23 —a member of the local school board.

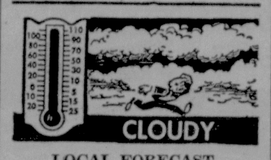

He is a Navy combat veteran of the South Pacific in World War II; married, and the father of three children.

Snowstorms Hit Northeastern U.S.

Gusty north winds built up snow drifts in sections of the Northeast Wednesday.

The snow ranged up to 1½ feet between Malone and Plattsburgh in northern New York State during the night, although only an inch fell in Plattsburgh itself. Snow mounds blocked several roads. Many schools closed.

Snow on the ground varied between 5 and 10 inches in other parts of northern New York. Syracuse had 4 inches and Utica 3.

Northern Vermont reported drifts up to 20 inches. More than a foot of snow burdened the White Mountain area of New Hampshire.

Up to 4 inches of snow fell in widely scattered areas in Pennsylvania.

Lawrence Backs Mail Order Drugs

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence, defending the mail order sale of prescription drugs by unions, indicated strongly Wednesday he plans some changes in the operation of the State Pharmacy Board.

He told his weekly news conference:

"The actions of the board are not pleasing to me generally; that is, the way they have acted."

Asked whether this meant there would be some changes in the makeup of the five-member board, Lawrence replied:

"I have a plan but I want to talk to some people more qualified to know what is going on than I am."

Good Morning!

"Dad," asked Johnny, looking up from his homework, "Is waterworks all one word, or do you spell it with a hydrant?"

Wyckoff's Hold Party For Employes

THE religious significance as well as the merriment of the Christmas season were celebrated by the Wyckoff Store family when Ernest H. Wyckoff, chairman of the board, and his family were hosts Tuesday night at Buck Hill Inn to 314 employes of Wyckoff-Sears, Newton, N. J.; Wyckoff-Sears and A. B. Wyckoff, Stroudsburg.

Highlight of the evening was the announcing of generous cash bonuses and gift certificates based upon years of service.

Honored guests and featured entertainers were members of the Shawnee Choir, directed by Dr. Earl Willhoite; Miss Nuala Downey of New Zealand, Rotary exchange student matriculating at State College, East Stroudsburg; and Dimitri Gesker, accordionist, of Greece, a displaced person brought here some months ago by Mr. Wyckoff, and now a Wyckoff employe.

The traditional turkey feast of Christmas was served in Buck Hill's main dining room, with each table glistening in the reflected lights of tiny Christmas trees.

Focal point in arrangement was the 25 Year Club table, presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Wyckoff, with their special guests being Manager Jess Pierson and wife, of the Sears store, Stroudsburg; Manager Leslie Hunter and wife of Sears, Newton; General Manager J. L. Kerlin and wife, of Wyckoff's, and Attorney and Mrs. Arlington Williams. A gift of congratulation was presented to Henry Buck, now part-time, retired, who this year observes 50 years' association with Wyckoff's. New to the 25 Year Club this year is Maintenance Manager Jack LaBar, who received his gilt "medal" and child's bonnet (symbolic of being the group's "baby") from his predecessor in this position, Dorothy Dunn.

Other 25 Year Club members and their length of service are Thomas Rinehart, 47 years; Laura Fabel, 44; Helen Mitchell, 41; Beatrice Gorgy, 40; Harold Albert, 37; Alfred Learn, 36; Amy Eilenberger and Jack Pennington, 35; Arthur Widmer, Elsie Hay, and Eva Edson, 34; Maude Walton, Flossie Kresge, J. L. Kerlin, 33; and Cora Albertson and Edna Brockman, 30. Pins were given Miss Gorgy, Miss Eilenberger, Mrs. Brockman and Mrs. Albertson.

Others Honored

Others receiving service pins from E. H. Wyckoff, Jr., president, were: Leon Price and Lester Lee, 20 years; Hattie Walters, Elizabeth Bartholomew, Martha Smith and Walter Dunstan, 15 years; William Fisher, Ann Weiss, Madalyn Maloney, Rae Hurtz, Walter Wyckoff, Mary LaBar, Beulah Fellencer, Mildred Sandt, Elizabeth Shively, Alfred Baxter, William Sanders, John Sharbaugh, and James Farry, 10 years; and Josephine Ailes, Max Beaver, Russell Shellenberger, Esther Ainspac, Margaret Rickert, Dorothy Treible, Marian Drake, Naomi Fetherman, Helen Weingartner, Beatrice Brink, Dorothy Laubach, Jean Decker, Iva Frailey, Mary Brong, Frank Talasz, Kenneth Werkheiser, Thomas McGowan, John Quarmley, John Stoddard, and Edward Rivera, 5 years.

The program, arranged by Peter Wyckoff, a member of the Shawnee Choir, featured this group of recording artists in a forty-minute program of religious and secular music to be repeated this Friday for the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association at the Penn-Harris Hotel, Harrisburg.

Dr. Willhoite began his "Christmas Card" to the Wyckoff family and personnel, with the joyous "Holiday" written by Fred Waring and Moe Jaffe, and set to music by Clay Boland. A liturgical number, "Benedictus and Hosanna" followed, and the ensuing selections were a delightful, contrasting "holiday wreath" in which reverence and gaiety were harmoniously combined.

Soloists Choir

Soloists included Robert Hartman, tenor; Robert Kranendonk, baritone; John Smith, bass, and Jean Ann Wolbert, soprano.

Choir members include: Beatrice Anthony, Sally Ferrebee, Gertrude Hippler, Jocelyn Lantz, Janice Mosteller, Beatrice Raymond, Ann Spencer, Ellen Thompson, sopranos; Caroline Denham, Jeanne Gurr, Ann Kauffman, Beulah McConnell, Leona Willhoite, Norma Treible, Doris Salathe, and Ruth Sibley, altos; James Anthony, Robert Currier, Robert Wolbert, William Thompson, Shimer Kublic, and Clyde Kauffman, tenors; Howard Atwell, Ralph Potts, John Smith, Lewis Tpreman, Don Whitaker, Don Whitaker, Jr., bass; those previously mentioned, and Richard Lindruth, accompanist. Ernest Farmer, Kenneth Lee, and Robert Knupp are in charge of audio.

Following the concert, Miss Downey presented a fast-moving travelogue of her own country, characterized by humor and vivacity, and complete with colored slides.

Arthur Widmer led general singing of Christmas carols, accompanied by Ernie Michenfelder. Decorations were in charge of Amy Eilenberger and Edna Bush.

High School Chatter

East Stroudsburg

By Charlotte Sitting

AS is the case in most high school home economic classes, the girls in East Stroudsburg High School began making early preparations for a Thanksgiving dinner.

When it was completed and placed on the table the sight was almost breath-taking and Rayma Lupin suggested that Paul Morton be asked to take a picture of it.

She ran to Morton's home room and asked him to please come and take the picture and instructed him to please hurry as Russell Barheight and Mrs. Ruth Werkheiser were the guests of honor and that they were ready to eat.

With visions of a meal before his eyes, Morton took extra time and sought a piece of misplaced equipment. Ten minutes late he entered the home economics room.

Ase he entered a surprised look came over his face for there on the table were the empty bowls and a skeleton of a turkey.

Members of the class making the dinner were Alvis Nichalos, Eileen Beam, Charline Pfander, Josephine Klein, Jeanann Smith, Diane Snyder, Barbara Smitn and Diane Ogrodoski.

Miss Nichalos cooked the corn, Miss Beam and Pafander basted the turkey, Miss Klein and Jeanann Smith made the filling, Miss Snyder and Barbara Smith mashed the potatoes. And Miss Ogrodoski made the pie.

Stroud Union

By Sandy Possinger

NATIONAL Education week, Nov. 7-11, offered 26 Stroud Union High School students the opportunity to try their hand at teaching. The Future Teacher's of America taught elementary and secondary classes throughout the school district. Each of the students selected his own class and received permission from the sponsoring teacher to teach his class.

Elementary schools in this area were flocked by would-be teachers. Joy Altemose, a freshman at SUHS taught Mrs. Everitt's third grade class at Ramsey, Margaret Smith taught Mrs. Pyle's afternoon Kindergarten class, also at Ramsey.

Dale Vaughn, Ann Hart, Marjorie Laveton, Mary Jane Drake, Linda Carlton and Donna Trethway invaded Morey Elementary School. Dale Vaughn, teaching Mrs. Barry's third grade, other students taught Mrs. Harvey's fourth grade, Mrs. Barber's fifth grade, and Mrs. Baldwin's first grade.

Clearview Elementary School's "teachers for a day" included Abbey Schulman and Joellyn McCann. McCann taught under her mother, Mrs. McCann, for sixth grade English and fifth grade French. She said the French accent is mastered very well by the fifth grade students.

Arlington Heights and Delaware Water Gap Elementary Schools also co-operated in the teaching program. Diane Widdoss taught Mrs. Marshall's first and second grades at Delaware Water Gap and Stephanie Dean, Mary Lou Hardenstine, Donna Ayers and Pat Manley taught Mrs. Detrick's fourth grade and Mrs. Farley's afternoon Kindergarten.

Dave Haney, Carol Ann Sabinsky, Warren Loney, Vickie Howitt, Pat Ponder, Ellen Katz, and Yohevet Geshensky taught varied classes at SUHS. Vickie Howitt said, "It was a lot different being on the other side of the desk."

These students will be teaching in the future: Bob Primer, Linda Kostrona, Louise Altemose, Ruth Lebar, Jeanne Meyer, and Sandy Possinger.

The Future Teachers of America is co-sponsored by Mrs. Judy Cox and Mrs. Mary Kunkle.

Governor Praises Barr

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Gov. Lawrence praised Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph M. Barr Wednesday night as an enlightened, progressive leader who "always has time for the people he is called upon to serve."

"Joe Barr has always proved a brilliant administrator...a determined legislator . . . and a champion vote getter," Lawrence said in remarks prepared for a testimonial dinner in Barr's honor.

State Democrats have hinted strongly in recent months that Barr could be the party's candidate in Pennsylvania's gubernatorial election next year.

Stockpiling Food

ALLENSBACH, Germany (AP) —About one family in four in all West Berlin and West Germany is stockpiling food for a crisis, a polling organization reports. It said this is double the level before the Communists erected a wall through Berlin last August.

Many Benefits To All

This morning's issue of The Daily Record features the recently-opened Stroudsburg Thruway in pictures and stories. It is designed to acquaint residents and visitors alike with the advantages of the new highway, as well as to familiarize them with the five interchanges which are located along it.

There is no doubt that the new facility has eased traffic problems in The Stroudsburgs, and this advantage will become more pronounced when the proper use of the various entrances and exits is learned by those who are using it. By use of the thruway, motorists can travel speedily from one section of the area to another, while transient traffic can breeze right through it wouthout annoyance or congestion.

Of course, one of the big advantages of the thruway is that it has eliminated the bottleneck on the main arteries in The Stroudsburgs — a situation which has been detrimental to both of the boroughs for many years. Construction of the bypass has opened up the business sections of both communities so that shoppers may wend their way through them leisurely.

Along with the features mentioned, the merchants of the area have gone all out to attract the shoppers by stressing Christmas season merchandise and sales. The ease of shopping at home has never been more pronounced, and it is up to the people of the area to take advantage of it.

So, as you read through the special thruway edition, familiarize yourself with the seemingly complex interchanges. Actually, when you become used to them, you will find them amazingly simple and great timesavers in getting from one point to another.

Then take a jaunt on the new roadway, and see how easy it is to get to the various shopping areas, and how pleasant it is to shop at home now that the traffic congestion has been eased.

Reapportionment Delay

Citizens of Pennsylvania, Democrats and Republicans alike, must be getting a little sick and tired of the jockeying and stalling on the question of congressional reapportionment. On the basis of last year's federal census, the state will lose three of its 30 seats in the House at Washington. Unless the Legislature adopts a redistricting bill by Feb. 20, all of Pennsylvania's congressmen will be elected at large next year.

Such an eventuality should be prevented. A statewide election of congressmen would destroy the principle of local representation which is at the very base of our national legislative processes. The people of every section of the state are entitled to a congressman who is familiar with the problems and the needs of his local area.

It is only natural for the leaders of the two parties to maneuver in their own interest in drafting a reapportionment program. But continued procrastination should not be tolerated. Democrat and Republican leaders should agree among themselves and then get together, taking a realistic approach to reconciling their views. Party lines are drawn so closely in the Legislature that a mutually acceptable plan should be given the green light, thus eliminating the risk of protracted squabble which would delay passage of a reapportionment bill. Such an agreement would permit action soon after the Legislature convenes in January and would make a special session, with its extra cost, unnecessary.

Extreme Rightist

I am asked by M. J. Crawford of Ridgewood, New Jersey, to define an "extreme rightist." The questioner wonders what President Kennedy meant when he referred to such in a speech in California.

Unfortunately, it is a meaningless term, just as "extreme leftist" would be meaningless. No one can accurately define such terms. It is unfortunate that President Kennedy did not use a more precise phrase.

Any thinking people divide themselves into various segments of thought and response to public questions. Let us define some of them as they now exist:

1. The Middle-of-the-Readers are those who always go along with what at the moment is popular and acceptable. When Eisenhower was President, they held that whatever Eisenhower said was inspired; now, they hold that whatever Kennedy says is inspired. They are never wrong because they never differ from the popular. They serve any master who seeks their service;

2. Among those who are not so pliable are many who hold differing principles of life. These may range on what is called the Right from 19th century Liberals who fear the spread of the power of government to conservatives who wish to preserve the traditions of the country to reactionaries to whom all changes are repugnant; and on what is called the Left are those who would accelerate change and reform at various rates of speed to the Communists who would destroy our system of life and adopt Marxism.

When President Kennedy refers to the Right Extremists, he could mean such groups as the John Birch Society or the Minutemen who decline to recognize the course of events since 1914 and the vast changes that have already occurred in this country.

They sincerely would like to live in the world as it existed when they were born; they would like to ignore the drastic social and economic changes that have taken place since they were born. They find these changes hateful. They opposed Franklin D. Roosevelt and they refuse to recognize that the New Deal did manage to make a violent change in our lives.

President Kennedy finds such groups distasteful because they are unrealistic. They fail to recognize that the Marxist movement throughout the world altered many of the accepted ways of life. Their children and grandchildren can describe these changes and their effects upon them.

For instance, they can tell their elders that whenever they have to consider marriage, college, carers, any phase of life, they must consider the prospect of war, the menace of war, the delays that war will bring to their lives. The younger generation cannot go back to 1900.

President Kennedy is himself of this younger generation. He has been to war. His back has been broken by war. He has made a success in life but he knows how many of his colleagues and friends have become permanently crippled by war; he knows how many of them received "Dear John" letters; he knows the heartbreak of unsatisfied aspirations.

But what undoubtedly shocks him is that the next generation to his, the youngsters, are conservatives to a greater or lesser degree. This younger generation rejects the cliches and truisms of the Liberals, the mouthings of the New Dealers. They seek to relate their ideals of progress to historic memory.

Just as the radicalism of the 1930's shocked the eiders of that period, so the conservatism of youth today shocks the balding middle-aged of the 1930's. Adlai Stevenson may have been regarded as a philosopher of the 1940's but in the 1960's, youth seeks clearer definitions, a review of the relations of science and religion.

They do not quote Thorstein Veblen or John Maynard Keynes, but they know such names as Martin Buber and Sydney Hook. Just as their forbears knew of Howard Fast, so today the youngsters know of William Buckley. Just as their forbears laughed at God, so do they in this period try to discover God.

The world has changed, as it always changes, from generation to generation and only those stand still who are blinded and have grown deaf.

Thus, when President Kennedy speaks of the Extreme Rightists, he was disclosing the beginnings of grey hairs. He is moving to the middle of the road and will have to re-think his youth. It comes to all of us and when it reaches him, we shall have a stronger and more understanding man.

About Town

Another true child story: Another suggestion: A New York matron took her four-year-old daughter to one of New York's most dignified department stores. While she was making a purchase, the sales lady leaned sweetly over the counter and said to the little girl: "Well my dear, you must be one of our newest charge customers."

"I am not," said the little girl indignantly, "I'm a human being!"

The Pennsylvania Story

Choosing A Governor

Harrisburg — Are Pennsylvanians again destined to face the dismal and somewhat stupefying prospect of choosing their next governor from a hammered down batch of strictly machine candidates?

In other words, will the time-worn old pros of both parties again be the ones who will call the shots next year in saying quite definitely and quite specifically who will and who will not run for the number one office in the state?

On the surface and on the basis of past history the question perhaps seems most academic. In all probability it is perhaps just that, but strange as it may seem—this year for the first time in many a political moon the question has just an outside chance of emerging from the "academic."

The rather unique possibility is worth noting — and worth remembering, as the hubbub and candidate commotion picks up during the coming weeks and months.

The on-the-surface clamor so far in both parties has centered around which standard, overworked party faction is backing this or that "front running" candidate.

The conventional array of political pasty-faces—the political crones who bleed off one public office after another—already have appeared on the scene as gubernatorial hopefuls of one party or the other.

These are the "name brands"—the ones whose names insofar as the public at large is concerned, are at least modestly well known. They are the ones who have the routine political gambit over the years.

Nominally these would be the ones from whom the respective party candidate would be chosen.

These then are the workhorses of the party — that is, workhorses insofar as the public is concerned. These are the ones the "factions" within the parties bicker over, and conversely, the ones who bicker with the factions for support.

This used to be the sole key to candidate success, and it may well be again next year—but at the same time there is indeed another side, and for once it could conceivably emerge as the deciding factor in the candidate squabble in next spring's primary.

The quetsion revolves simply around the possibility primaries.

This year that factor has done more to give old pros in both parties the "shakes" than almost anything else—and not without good reason.

This year neither party can truly be said to be on the old "commanding" basis; that is, the dangling-jowl brigade does not have the magic machine touch of yesteryear. It simply isn't there.

Both the candidates and the way the votes have been cast in recent elections have underscored the point. Or, rather than finding—exclusively—the candidate the party likes and prefers, it now is turning into more a question of finding a possible candidate the "public" prefers.

This is perhaps best illustrated in the poll-taking both parties are considering in an effort to find out what "type" of candidate would be most acceptable to the voting public (rather than a political machine public).

Interestingly too, there are a number of potential candidates appearing on the scene—mostly on the Republican side however—who fall strictly in the "new face" category and who are not old line party poster contest winners (or losers).

These are the ones who this time seemingly have at least an outside chance of becoming serious contenders in the spring primary With party registrations running so close to each other (there is only a 155,639 difference), the "outsider" who can attract the greatest "public" vote may truly emerge as the big one in gubernatorial 1962 — time-worn political paps notwithstanding!

It's a possibility those close to the political sceen around Capitol Hill are watching now —not the conventional watch-as-front-runner political face in the sky.

Mirror of Time

10 Years Ago

Alvayla Duane Bidwell broke out of the cellblock of the Monroe County Jail, locked up Deputy Sherriff Grover Hay, and escaped from the jail.

Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg businessmen announced they would finance the Christmas Parade in the twin-boroughs. A mile long parade with large balloons was to be the highlight of the event.

Work on the first pier of the $8,000,000 bridge between Delaware Water Gap and New Jersey had reached the half-way point.

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College opened its basketball season with only four lettermen on the squad.

20 Years Ago

Moses Van Why, of near Stroudsburg, was charged with reckless driving after his car collided with another car and then rolled over a bank and into corn field. The accident occurred two miles out-side of Stroudsburg on the Monroe-Carbon Trail.

A Easton man was committed to the Monroe County Jail after being charged with shooting at an occupied fire tower. The charge was placed by District Forester E. C. Pyle.

A large number of hunters entered the woods in the county on the first day of the annual deer season.

How many remember when a herd of Elk damaged grain in the Pardise Township area? That was 1921.

QUOTES HEARD AROUND THE COUNTY:

Paul Crawn, English professor at East Stroudsburg State College—"One of these days ESSC will have one of the finest alumni organizations among state colleges. We're only on the ground floor now but before long it will shape up like the Empire State building."

Carl Meissner, Monroe County's chief Republican booster—"Next year will be the year the GOP will ride high, wide and handsome. There is no doubt in my mind that Republicans will grab key positions in elections on the county, state and national level."

Lew Hastie, biology expert at East Stroudsburg High School—"This year's Monroe County Scholastic Science Fair will be bigger and better than ever. Already plans call for more participants than last year's record number of enrollees."

Floyd Williams, Stroudsburg vehicle fixer-upper—"W the winter expected to harsh one there is no doub some cars will find the weather just a wee bit too tough."

Trudy Hellman, Stroud Township's Susan B. Anthony—"Politicans are beginning to realize that women are part of their world. It won't be long before you see half the candidates for public office will be women."

Beryl Hellgren, swimming instructor at the Stroudsburg YMCA—"There is no better training than a water safety course."

Irving W. Foltz, retired East Stroudsburg State College professor—"One can get so much out of life by just taking a stroll down the street. It is an education in itself."

Try and Stop Me

There was one Eastern railroad over which the late George S. Kaufman resolutely refused to travel. "I am convinced," he explained, "that every engineer on that line has an 8-year-old son who longs to get his hands on the throttle. The wait till they hear I'm going to be on board, and then they give these 8-year-olds their long-sought opportunity to run the train to their hearts' content."

The manager of a motel was asked if he could handle adequately a party of eighty teenagers. "We have the room," he answered honestly, "but I'm afraid we haven't enough outlets for their electric guitars."

An anxious mother was overheard cautioning her starlet-daughter in Hollywood recently. "For heaven's sake, be careful of your bridal costume! Remember you've only worn it four times!"

The Allen-Scott Report

Views On Ted Kennedy's Senate Bid

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Edward (Red) Kennedy, politically ambitious 30-year-old youngest brother of the President, is the center of a very significant family tug-of war.

The President wants Ted to run for either the House of Representatives or a Massachusettz state office—preferably Attorney General.

But their father, former Ambassador Joseph Kennedy, is strongly urging Ted to be a candidate for the seat held by Senator Benjamin Smith, 45-year-old Harvard classmate of the President. Smith was appointed to the Senate after the President was elected to the White House.

Attorney General Robert Kennedy had been siding with his father, but lately is veering away. In family discussions during the Thanksgiving holiday, "Bobby" held the President's interest were foremost and must be given primary consideration.

Importance of this inner family divergence of view is that it involves a potentially bitter primary battle with State Attorney General Edward McCormack—nephew of Representative John McCormack, now certain to be the next Speaker of the House.

"Eddie" McCormack, tall, blond, handsome Annapolis graduate, is an unannounced but definite candidate for the Senate. Serving his second term as Attorney General, he won in 1960 by a majority second only to the Presdient's.

A torrid primary clash between "Eddie" and "Teddy" could have far-reaching reverberations—in Massachusetts and elsewhere.

Regardless of who won, the resulting factional scars could cost the Democrats this seat in the November election, when the Republican candidate is virtually certain to be young George Cabot Lodge. He is the son of former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, whom President Kennedy defeated for the Senate in 1952.

Nationally, Ted's aspiring to the Senate in his first political venture would open the Kennedys to the charge of "creating a dynasty."

The Presidnet obviously is acutely aware of these risks.

That is why he is counseling that 30-year-old "Teddy" seek a less ambitious prize, in inner Democratic circles it's no secret that both Massachusetts and national party leaders favor that.

With very few exceptions, every important elected Democratic official in Massachusetts is against "Teddy" running for the Senate.

They think he should wait until 1966—when he will be 35—and tackle veteran Republican Senator Leverett Saltonstall, now serving his fourth term, who will then be 74.

Senator Smith continues to insist he still is in the picture. But that doesn't seem to be worrying either "Eddie" or "Teddy". Both appear confident he is not a serious threat. It's what they are going to do that is bothering them. And that apparently is up to the President—if "Bobby" is right.

Meanwhile, "Teddy", chairman of the Massacusetts cancer fund, addressed 78 meeting in its behalf the past month; and young Lodge, chairman of the state heart fund, spoke at 35 meetings.

Politicals—Senator J. William Fulbright, D, Ark., chairman of the influential Foreign Relations Committee, is convinced he will be opposed by Governor Orval Faubus. The latter, serving his third term, hasn't announced against Fulbright, but close Faubus lieutenants are passing the word he has decided to run for the Senate . . . The prospects for increasing the size of the House to save some Democratic seats will be definitely better under Representative John McCormack, Mass., as Speaker. He favors that in contrast to the backstage opposition of the late Speaker Sam Rayburn. Rayburn's disapproval prevented such legislation from being considered this year . . . Massachusetts Republican Governor John Volpe will run for re-election. The strongest GOP vote-getter in the state, he has told young George Cabot Lodge that he will not oppose him for the senatorial nomination . . . Most against Volpe is Lieutenant Governor Edward McLaughlin—who wants "Ted" Kennedy to run for Attorney General. That's what the President favors, too.

Hawaii will be the battleground of a dramatic senatorial contest if Democratic Senator Oren Long decides not to run for re-election. A long-time educator, he has indicated he may retire from public life. In that event, the Democrats are set to nominate Representative Daniel Inouye, 37-year-old decorated, amputee World War II veteran. Benjamin Dillingham, 45-year-old scion of one of the wealthiest families of the island, will also be in the race. Inouye, son of a Japanese immigrant, has the backing of labor and minority groups. Dillingham is the vigorous champion of business and financial interests . . . Vice President Johnson got a tribute from an unexpected source. Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams warmly lauded Johnson's Detroit speech criticizing divisionists and urging national unity. Williams, a 1960 vice presidential candidate, has been cool to Johnson, but went out of his way to hightly praise his Detroit address.

Inside You And Yours

More Vitamin Questions

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

Q: From the enclosed label you can see that our vitamins don't contain the exact Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) Why?

A: Every manufacturer varies the proportions somewhat, but most multivitamin pills contain all you need—and more.

Labels tell about "Minimum Daily Requirements" (MDR)—the amount needed to prevent deficiency. They're somewhat less than the RDA of Vitamin A—5,000 Units; Vitamin D—400 Units; Vitamin B-1—1.6 mg; Vitamin B-2—18 mg; Niacin—20 mg; Vitamin C—75 mg.

Q: What doses of vitamin A cause poisoning? What are the symptoms?

A: More than 100,000 Units daily. Skin roughens, hair thins and eyebrows disappear. So does your strength! Bones bleed into painful swellings along arms and legs. Your head feels as big as your liver—already swollen with vitamin A poisoning.

Stop Taking Them

The cure? Quit taking giant does of vitamin A!

Q: Why did my doctor prescribe expensive choline syrup?

A.: Choline helps prevent cirrhosis when fat infiltrates into the liver. This fat can climb on choline for a free ride into the circulation.

Choline also helps manufacture nerve-triggering chemicals. Eating an ordinary diet, you rarely need extra choline. It's no longer labeled a vitamin.

Q: Is iron good or harmful?

Different Need

A: Both! To prevent anemia, men need 10 mg. daily—women a little more because of their monthly menstrual flow. Iron-rich medicines cure only those anemias caused by iron lack.

A single large overdoes may corrode stomach and intestine lining and start blood gushing out. Soon you turn cold, gray and clammy and lapse into dangerous shock.

Little Nourishment

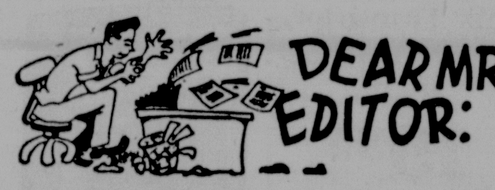

Q.: Do olives contain vitamins?

A: Except for a tiny bit of vitamin A and iron, you have to search hard to find any vital nourishment in pickled olives. The pimento adds little more!

Q: Where can I buy a booklet listing the vitamin content of various foods?

A: Send 20 cents to the Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C., requesting Home and Garden Bulletin No. 72, 'Nutritive Value of Foods".

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Billboards And The Shortway

Editor The Daily Record:

It is a trite saying that if a man has (1) money, (2) influence, (3) a good lawyer, or all three in varying degrees, he may do or have done most anything. Such must be the case as regards the billboards of the local hotel on the new section of the Shortway. For is this not a contravention of the federal statue forbidding such advertising on the interstate highways?

Does not Pennsylvania along with several other states share a generous incentive stipend for abiding by this proviso? If it is not a violation of said statute by reason of retroactivity then it is a circumvention, and operates in unfair competition.

The writer admits to prejudice towards billboards contending that they are a scenic impairment, a blatant offense to sense and good taste, a highway hazard, and an imposition on the motoring public from which he has little escape and no defense.

In the consensus of major opinion, would that the legislators ban them on all highways. Would that the chamber of commerce, vacation bureau, and private clubs and groups work to reduce and eliminate this blot on the landscape. Would that citizens respond by sending postcards to billboard users.

As to the shortway itself it must be obvious now if not before that this was the worst possible route. All things considered; the round-about way, the massive rock formation, the slicing through the boros and consequent removal of a large portion of the tax base, the damage to natural areas, waters and streams, and the cost of an excessive number of bridges and interchanges; in view of this and, in retrospect, a beter possible route there must have been. It is indeed awesome the existence of such powers as would command this construction. The idolatry of the dedication proceedings is not germane to the intent of the foregoing.

One wonders how many years before it wil be obsolete and will we then move over another quarter mile to build an 8-lane thorofare? One questions the righteousness of the eminent domain powers and abuses. Briefly it would seem that planning is in order if not imperative.

It is hyprocrisy to rail against the foibles, folly, and philosophy of faroff federal spending and to extol it when one happens to be the recipient.

Thanks For Cooperation

Editor, The Daily Record:

Ater concluding our three-day Christmas Assembly in the Broughal School building, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, I should like to express appreciation to you and your staff for the noticeably fine coverage given this event by your newspaper.

The continuance of free press and free speech by your newspaper is comparable to the free Bible educational work carried on and intensified by Jehovah's Witness in all parts of the earth.

Thank you again for your cooperation in making known issues vital to the upbuilding of mankind in this split-up world of stress and fear.

PP&L Bill Mailing Service Changed To Sealed System

THE familiar postcard electric service bills of Pennsylvania Power & Light Company will be a thing of the past beginning with bills mailed today.

"The change to billing in sealed envelopes has been under consideration for some time," says H. M. Schelden, PP&L's Lehigh division vice president. "The decision was finally made on the basis of three considerations. First, the added privacy for our customers in having their bills arrive sealed; second, we will be able to provide a return envelope for those customers who prefer to pay by mail; third, it will provide a regular opportunity to 'talk' to our customers on matters of interest to them by inserting messages with each bill."

Processing of the new type bills will be the first major accounting procedure to be handled in PP&L's new Computer Center, according to Scheldon. The Center includes the world's first optical scanner which can "read" conventionally printed or typed information directly into a computer, as well as the IBM 7070 computer that can "read" 62,500 individual numbers or letters a second or store up to 100,000 characters in its electronic memory. Also part of the Center are four smaller "satellite" computers.

"Easier To Read"

Scheldon added, "The new bills will be much easier to read than the old-style postcard since they will be more than twice as wide. This new look in billing is still another step in PP&L's continuing program to adopt those new and improved methods which promise to provide either increased customer benefits or speedier, more efficient operation. The new type of billing will do both."

Enclosed with the first mailing of the new-type bills will be a folder describing, in detail, the different sections of the bill for the utility's customers.

United Vets Appeal To Industry

AN APPEAL to area industrial firms to let veterans in their employ participate in military funerals was approved at a meeting of the Monroe County United Veterans Organization at the home of Thomas P. Lambert Post 2540, Veterans of Foreign Wars, last night.

Fred Feiler informed the group that he is willing to serve as secretary of the recently-formed organization. Herman Smeltz, Jr., volunteered his services as publicity chairman.

The group voted to support Jack Muschock of Stroudsburg for appointment as manager of District 10, Pennsylvania State Employment Service. A letter containing the endorsement will be sent to Gov. David L. Lawrence.

The next meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 20, at the home of George N. Kemp Post 346, American Legion with Pocono Barracks, World War I Veterans, as the host.

Lawrence, Dilworth Agree

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence agrees with Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth that Democrats lost votes in the Nov. 7 election because of the party's stand on congressional reapportionment.

"I think it did seriously affect us in the counties around Philadelphia," the governor told his news conference Wednesday, the first since the election. "That's just a fact."

Lawrence said he didn't know whether Rep. William J. Green, Philadelphia Democratic chairman, would drop his demand that Philadelphia retain its six congressional seats when party leaders meet here Dec. 6 to hammer out a reapportionment plan.

"Out of that (meeting), I am sure we will get some program that they can move ahead on," the governor said. He voiced hope that an agreement could be worked out eventually with Republicans.

Burglars Grab $800 From VFW

BURGLARS who apparently knew exactly what they wanted and where to find it took approximately $800 from the home of Thomas P. Lambert Post 2540, Veterans of Foreign Wars, yesterday.

Police Chief John B. Tretheway of Stroudsburg said the money was taken from an unlocked safe in the bar. Nothing else was disturbed.

The money was taken between 1 a.m. when the bar closed and 7:30 a.m. when the loss was discovered by John Gordon, custodian.

As in the case of a burglary at Aerie 1106, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Stroudsburg, Tuesday in which approximately $1,500 was taken, there were no signs of forcible entry.

No Injuries In 4-Car Accident

NO ONE was injured in a four-car accident about 5:35 p.m. yesterday at Seventh and Main Sts., Stroudsburg.

Police said cars driven by Isabel B. Finn, 310 N. Seventh St., Stroudsburg and William G. Nardini, 52 Delaware Ave., Portland, collided as both made turns from S. Seventh and N. Seventh onto Main.

Then, police said, the Finn car went out of control and struck parked cars owned by James H. Groner, 330 Colbert St., Stroudsburg, and Edward Bosman, 102 Smith St., East Stroudsburg, both of which were parked in front of the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Knocked Over Curb

Groner's car was knocked over the curb and into a flower box on the hotel porch before it drifted back into the street.

Police said damage included the entire front end of the Finn car, the right rear fender skirt of Nardini's auto, the front and rear bumpers of Groner's car and the right rear tail light, fender and trunk of Bosman's auto.

Also damaged were two parking meter stancheons.

Brakes Fail, Cars Crash

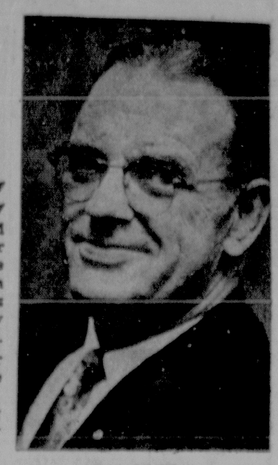

TANNERSVILLE — No one was injured in a two-car accident seven miles west of here on the Reeders Rd. at 4:45 p.m. yesterday.

State police at Mt. Pocono identified the drivers as Allen Bruce Heller, 18, Box 106, Sciota, and Roy F. Beers, 56, of 187 Delaware Ave., Palmerton.

Trooper said Heller's brakes failed and he was unable to stop at an intersection. Damage was $1,000 to his car and $1,600 to Beers' vehicle.

Interpreting

President Pinpoints World Peace

President Kennedy, in his Izvestia interview, laid down the one essential requirement for world peace—an end to proletarian internationalism, which in the Moscow book means Soviet management of all the world's Communist parties.

His interviewer made the usual double-talking Communist reply—that the Soviet Union really isn't trying to export her own revolution, merely trying to keep other people from exporting counter-revolution.

The real evidence of the Soviet attitude, however, lies in her current propaganda conflict with Albania and Red China over just this issue—her insistence that if they are really intending to be Communist they must recognize the leadership of Soviet communism.

U.S. Not To Obstruct

At the same time, the President went farther than any other Western leader has gone in saying that the United States will not object to Communist regimes as such in other countries where they are produced by free choice of the people, and where the people retain the power to change their minds if they desire. He mentioned specifically the new regime in Guiana, the first formal and unqualified American statement on that issue.

This column reported last spring that this was a growing attitude in the Kennedy administration, and now it has been formalized.

Whether it is a policy which could be made to stick, even if any country should meet the qualifications, is another question.

Exploit Principles

One fact of their lives which the American people have not always faced realistically during the conflict with the Soviet Union is that the United States, since her own revolution, sometimes consciously and directly, and sometimes unconsciously and indirectly, has always been exporting her own revolutionary principles. She fought one war under the slogan of making the world safe for her type of democracy. She immediately becomes apprehensive when even her best friends, such as France, show signs however small of deviating from those principles. There is a basis of conflict here between the United States and Communism itself, not merely the communism used by the Soviet rulers as a weapon of traditional Soviet expansionism.

As for the tactical issues which really are overshadowed by this great strategic conflict, the President expressed policy which already has been well-explored.

It is noticeable that he skirted around one great propaganda point in discussing Berlin—the fact that all of the tension which he and his interviewer talked about ending was created not by Western demands, but by the sole initiative of the Soviet Union. Perhaps this restraint was deliberate, in the knowledge that in their lack of cognizance the Russian people would only take affront and put up psychological barriers against other points with which he thought they might be reached.

PRR Declares Dividend

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad declared a 25-cent dividend on common stock Wednesday, keeping intact its record of paying a dividend each year over the past 114.

The dividend, however, was the first declared this year.

At the same time, the PRR reported it has lost $7,683,246 over the first 10 months of this year. Earnings in October were $5,085,440, the fifth straight month the PRR reported a profit this year.

James M. Symes, chairman of the board, said that in view of the October profit and profitable operations so far this month and "taking into consideration that the shareholders have received only a small return on their investment in the past three years, we believe some payment should be made on the stock this year."

The PRR also paid a 25 cent dividend on the common stock last year.

25 County Agents Meet On Problem

Insurancemen War On Unethical Practices

MORE THAN 20 insurance agents in Monroe County met yesterday at noon in the Colonial Diner, Stroudsburg, to discuss unethical practices being used by some insurance salesmen in the area.

In most cases, it was reported, the salesmen use methods that are not ethical.

Some of the methods mentioned were:

The prospective customer is told that he is authorized to make changes in the wording or clauses in the policy. The policy however, states that no agent can make any change in the policy.

Another Method

Another method is that two men enter the customer's residence or place of business. The agent introduces the second man as a man from the insurance department.

The second man is present to see that everything is done correctly and that the policy covers that which the agent speaks of.

It was noted the two men go through the books of the businessman and an area is found where the businessman is not insured.

It is at this point the agent makes his sale and in so doing he makes incorrect statements about the policy.

Locals "Knocked"

Another agent reported that the agents in the county are being "knocked" by these salesmen. They tell people that the local agents are not to be trusted.

After a discussion of methods being used another local agent said, "I have talked with someone in the office of the State Insurance Commission and I have been told to collect signed statements from people in the area and send them into the commissioner's office.

When these are received the commissioner will send men into the area to begin investigating the statements."

Following a discussion a committee of four men was named to study the matter and report back to the body in one month.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —President Tito is ill with flu and is under treatment at home, Tanjug, official news agency, reported yesterday.

7 Miners Killed

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)— Seven coal miners were killed and one is missing in a cave-in at a mine near Yongwol, some 70 miles east of here, newspapers reported yesterday. Workers rescued one miner.

Area Resident Aide To Sudan

By Pat Williams

BARRETT — No heavy blankets are needed in the desert climate of the Sudan where Dr. Alfred Ravelli and his wife are living. Dr. Ravelli, who holds the position of Teacher Education Advisor with the United States Agency for International Development, works in cooperation with the Ministry of Education officials of the Sudan.

Dr. Ravelli is the son of Mrs. T. R. Ravelli, Mountainhome and the late John Ravelli. A native New Yorker, he attended East Stroudsburg State College and received his B. S. in 1940. The M. A. degree and doctorate followed at Columbia University. Many Barrett alumni remember him as a science teacher, at Barrett High School.

While working at Columbia, Dr. Ravelli was offered an opportunity to work in Afghanistan for a two-year period. That paved the way for the work he is doing now in the Sudan.

With other staff members, he is assisting the Sudanese educational system by training teachers and providing technical assistance to their educational program. The system includes both students and teachers. Often, students are trained in United States universities for the teaching position they will hold upon their return.

The plan is a cooperation between the Sudanese Ministry of Education and United States technitians to develop plans to provide assistance for the educational facilities to train professional teachers.

Seminars have been held for Sudanese trade school and science teachers. English is the second language of education. Texts are used which are printed in England and in English. Among those teaching in the Sudan are expatriots. The Sudan has been an independent country for four years.

Lemons For Guests

Custom in this Moslom country calls for any visit to begin on the social level. A guest is offered fresh lemons or something to drink and a leisurely conversation is persued until the purpose of the visit is reached. It would be in poor taste to rush into a business meeting by giving up the custom. Since the temperature of the country is desert and fluctuates between 117 to 120 in the shade in summer and a very chilly low of 65 degrees in winter, the custom seems to be a sensible approach to preventing one from becoming "hot under the collar" both figuratively and literally.

Water, Electricity

Dr. Ravelli and his wife live in a house rented from a Sudanese. Electricity and water are dependable. There is no television but the capital city of Khartoun situated at the jointure of the White and Blue Nile has a radio station. They also have Arabic newspapers and Arabic magazines are printed in Egypt, to the north. There are English newspapers also. Western movies are shown in local outdoor theatres.

Khartoun is a city of contrasts. The ultra modern buildings of the past few years sitting cheek to cheek with the buildings of the past. High on the list of attraction in the country is hunting for the fleet gazelle and different species of birds. No license is necessary, but the gun must be registered, with the Ministry of Interior.

Cotton and camels are chief exports. From the compound or yard of his home, Dr. Ravelli has described the sight of camel trains winding across the land silhoutted by the sunset.

Primarily a man's society, the Moslem women are seldom seen at social functions. Most of the women lead a busy life supervising their households and servants. Outside activities include woman's organizations.

Members of the project play tennis or softball and bridge. For the women, cosmetics and clothing are hard to find and usually are imported as is a variety of groceries.

The community has a Catholic Church and protestant denominations. There is a modern civil hospital with doctors trained in England and Europe on the staff.

Dr. Ravelli and his wife will return to Khartoun in January for another two year stay.

Grass Fire Extinguished

THE Blule Ridge Hook and Ladder Co., Saylorsburg, extinguished a grass fire in a field near the Hamilton Square Church, south of Kellersville, at 9:45 a.m. yesterday.

Fire Chief George Kitchen said a rubbish fire flared out of control in high winds. Nine volunteers used portable tanks to put the fire out in about 10 minutes. There was no damage.

Shopping In Both The Stroudsburgs Is Made More Convenient

New Thruway Route Eases Town Traffic

OPENING of the final two sections of the Stroudsburgs Thruway last week has already proved a boon to the twin boroughs.

Police Chief John B. Tretheway of Stroudsburg—which particularly benefitted from the new highway—surveyed the situtaion late last week and commented:

"This is great. It (the Thruway) has made all the difference in the world. It should have been built 10 years ago, but I'm grateful for it now. Looking back, I don't know how we handled the traffic we had."

Even a casual observer couldn't help noticing the difference. Hardly a truck appeared on Stroudsburg's Main St and those that did were using Route 209 to or through East Stroudsburg.

In addition to the trucks, the Thruway is also syphoning out of the two boroughs' business districts most of the through traffic — tourists, businessmen and others passing through to other destinations.

The effects were almost immediate. Shoppers had less trouble getting into the business district and through it. There even seemed to be more parking places, although this was probably an illusion.

While the benefits of the highway are already accruing to the communities involved, the real results are expected to make themselves known when Spring and Summer arrive.

The "Battle of Foxtown Hill" —as it was known in some circles— appears to be a thing of the past. In case you're a stranger, what we mean is that on a sunny Summer day, it sometimes took longer to get from Delaware Water Gap through Stroudsburg than it did to get from New York City or Philadelphia to the Gap. As car engines overheated, the tempers of motorists did likewise.

The three sections of the highway completed so far—one from the Delaware Water Gap bridge to East Stroudsburg was opened previously—will get another big lift late next Spring or early in the Summer.

The Thruway is the eastern terminus of the Keystone Shortway and the southern link of the Penn-Can Highway. Currently, four additional sections leading from the end of the three sections completed to Crescent Lake are under construction. They are expected to be completed early next year.

Eventually, the twin highways will swing west from Crescent Lake as the Shortway and north from the same spot as the Penn-Can.

This is expected to result in a noticeable increase in tourists visiting the area and more Summer residents who will build homes here.

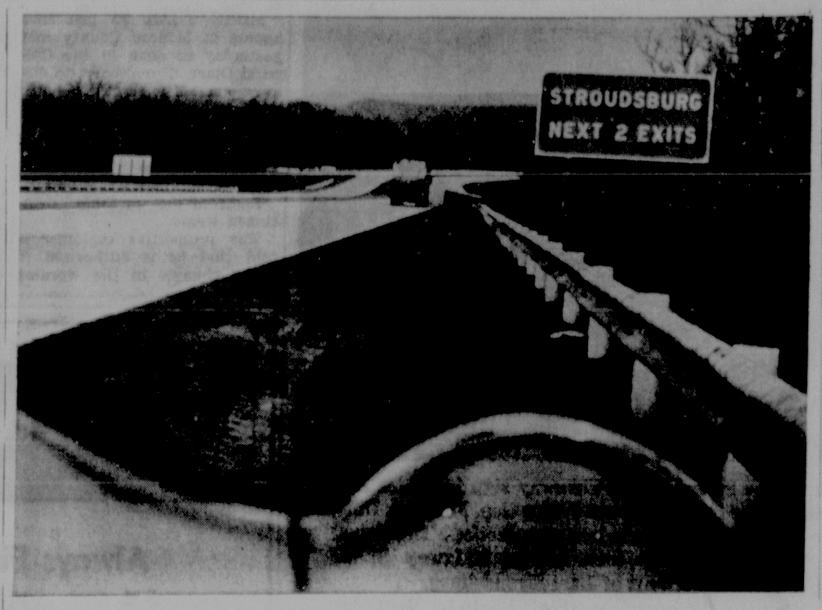

The first section of the highway was built by James D. Morrissey, Inc., Philadelphia. The two sections opened last week were the work of J. H. Beers, Inc., Richmond.

The four sections currently under construction are being built by Marsolini Construction Co., Uniontown; No. 1 Construction Co., West Pittston; D. A. Kessler Construction Co., Mt. Carmel, and Morrissey.

The three sections now in use total 5.81 miles and cost more than $8,800,000. The other four sections will bring the total mileage to 17.03 and the cost to $19,517,496.

NEXT TO LAST—Sign tells motorist he is approaching next to last exit in Stroudsburg while traveling north on Stroudsburgs Thruway. It's at Dreher Ave. with last exit in borough at W. Main St.

TO ASSIST MOTORISTS — Sign along northbound lane of Stroudsburgs Thruway tells drivers they can expect two more exits in Stroudsburg—one at Dreher Ave. and the other at W. Main St.

Judge Okays Viewing Of Vote Returns

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Judge Henry X. O'Brien of Allegheny County Court ruled Wednesday that Donald C. Rarick may examine voting returns from the 1957 election of international officers of the United Steelworkers.

Rarick, a steelworker from nearby White Oak, had appealed for permission to examine the ballots shortly after the 1957 election, in which he tried to unseat David J. McDonald as USW president.

McDonald defeated Rarick 404,172 to 223,516 in the election, and was re-elected to another term this year without opposition.

Rarick told newsmen he was not certain what action he would take following Judge O'Brien's ruling. Rarick said he will consult his attorney.

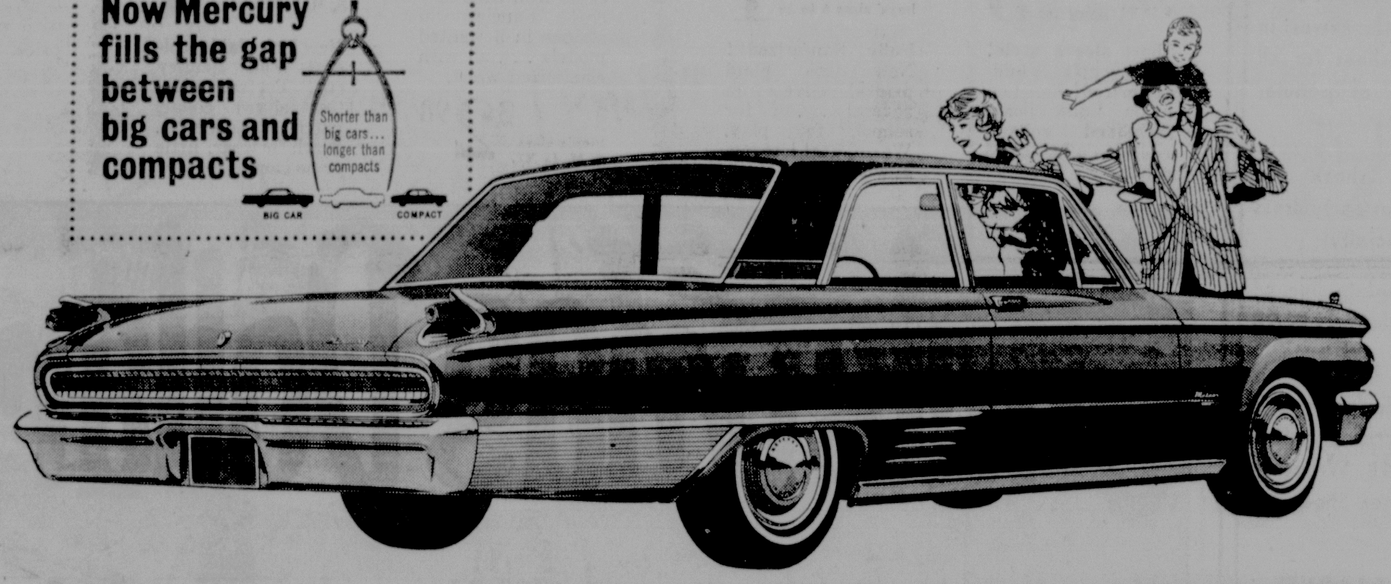

In an opinion accompanying his order, Judge O'Brien noted that the case had been pending "for some time while both parties, at their request, were given an opportunity to settle their differences."

BIG CAR COMPACT

Introducing the all-new Mercury METEOR beautiful balance between big cars and compacts

HANDLES LIKE A COMPACT...ROOMY AS A BIG CAR!

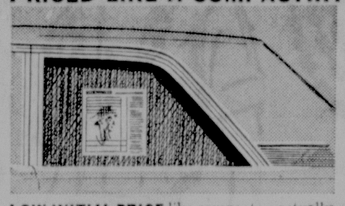

TURNS, PARKS, HANDLES like a compact. The turning radius is: 19¾ ft. Wheelbase: 116½ inches. Length: only 203.8 in., yet inside it...

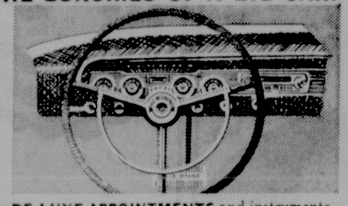

EQUALS THE ROOM in most big cars. A six-passenger car without qualification. The vacation-size trunk (31.5 cu. ft.) holds 15 suitcases.

PRICED LIKE A COMPACT...THE LUXURIES OF A BIG CAR!

LOW INITIAL PRICE like compacts—actually below several. Yet the Mercury Meteor is quality-built throughout, so luxurious, it has...

DE LUXE APPOINTMENTS and instruments, even an ammeter and oil-pressure gauge. Power steering and power brakes are also available.

SAVES LIKE A COMPACT...PERFORMS LIKE A BIG CAR!

TWO THRIFTY ENGINES to choose from. Pick the "6" or the new top-performance 221 V-8. You get compact-car gas mileage, plus...

A BEAUTIFUL BALANCE between power and weight (less than 3,000 lbs.). This means brilliant performance for hill climbing and passing.

...PLUS ALL THESE OTHER QUALITY FEATURES!

MORE RIDE ADVANCES than any car near its price. These include Cushion-Link Suspension, and a new type of unitized body ("torque-box" design) that checks road vibration before it can reach the passenger compartment. And a complete soundproofing program, which puts six walls of noise-deadening insulation all about you. The result? The first car that handles like a compact yet rides like a big car: smooth, solid, quiet.

ROUTINE SERVICE ONLY TWICE A YEAR or at 6,000- to 30,000-mile intervals. Meteor is quality-designed and built to save you money: 6,000-mile oil changes and minor lubrications, 30,000 miles between major lubrications, an anti-freeze, anti-rust coolant that lasts 2 years or 30,000 miles, self-adjusting brakes, and many more. Stop in and see this great car. It's now on display at your Mercury dealer's showroom.

A new approach to car design. Reduces weight.
Has the best features of compacts and big cars.

Free Subway Service Urged

PARIS (AP)—A city councilman proposes making the Paris subway free of charge.

It would save $16 million a year to pay to thousands who pass their lives punching holes in tickets" and allow them to be directed toward "more useful and humane jobs," he argues.

But ticket sales at about 7½ cents a ride bring in about $94 million a year, the subway points out.

What does the average content of the daily newspaper equal?

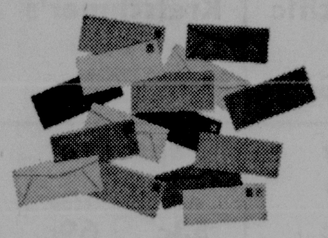

1. Webster's Collegiate Dictionary?

2. A 6x9-inch book of 204 pages?

3. The Topeka, Kansas, telephone directory?

4. One day's mail in the Rockland, Maine, post office?

ONE OF A .... SERIES

ANSWER: A 6X9-INCH BOOK OF 204 PAGES. In order to put something in the daily newspaper to bring everybody into one market place requires a variety of features. Sports pages for the sports lovers, recipes and household hints for the housewives, different news for different people. The newspaper's ability to reach all members of the family is an important reason why so many advertisers use the daily newspaper.

Traffic Pattern Takes Study

Interchanges Provide Wide Area Service

THRUWAY APPROACH — Directional signs at Marshalls Creek indicate two methods of getting on Stroudsburgs Thruway. Taking ramp at right will bring you to East Stroudsburg, while ramp beyond bridge in center will lead to Thruway and Delaware Water Gap. Thruway is beneath bridge in center of photo.

NEW HIGHWAYS are things that most drivers "just can't wait until it can be used," and then when they are open they may be just a little confused until exits and entrances are learned.

The newest addition to the Stroudsburg Thruway has recently been open to traffic and the five ramps leading on and off, from East Stroudsburg to where the road rejoins 611 in Stroud Township, can be confusing.

Traveling east, from Route 611 to Delaware Water Gap, a right turn onto the new road is made. The first ramp allowing traffic off is a right turn made several hundred feet after passing over W. Main St. There is also a ramp here allowing traffic to enter Route 80, or the Thruway.

At Dreher Ave. there is a ramp permitting traffic to enter. This traffic will be traveling east toward Delaware Water Gap. There is also a ramp at this point to allow traffic headed west to enter Dreher Ave., leaving Route 80.

Park Ave. is the next interchange. At this point traffic traveling east can make a slight turn to the right and leave Route 80 and enter Park Ave. There is also a ramp here for traffic to enter Route 80 and travel east.

The Broad St. exchange is another place to enter and exit the Thruway. Traffic leaving Route 80 must be coming from the east. Cars entering the road will be traveling west, toward Route 611.

The fifth exchange is the Prospect St. exchange. Here traffic traveling in both directions can enter and laeve the highway.

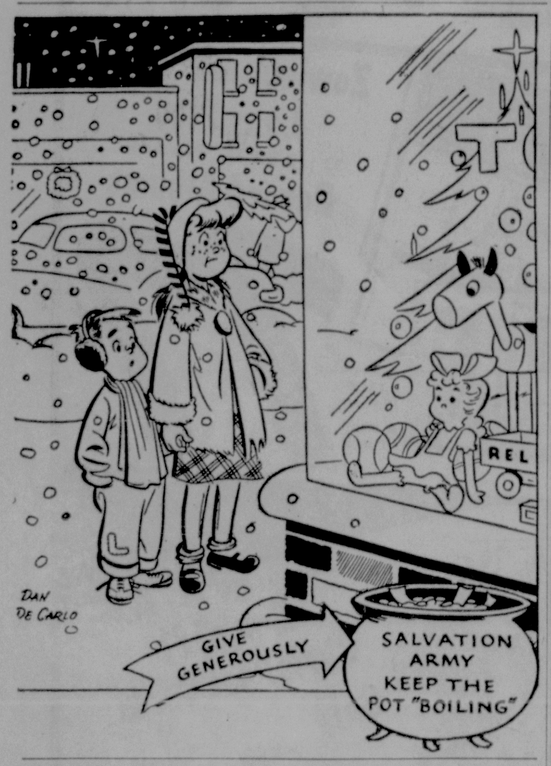

Traffic traveling east will leave Route 80 by making a right turn. This ramp is a double ramp and allows traffic to enter the new road. Traffic entering on this side of the ramp will be traveling east.

For traffic traveling west an exit can be made by making a slight right turn and up the ramp onto Prospect St. To enter the Thruway and travel west a right turn is made off Prospect St. and after traveling down the ramp you are on the new highway headed west.

LAST EXIT — Sign indicates turnoff on W. Main St., or Route 209, the last exit in Stroudsburg for northbound motorists on the Strudsburgs Thruway.

Talks At East Stroudsburg State

Pakistani Came To Study Leaves Speaker

"BEST MAP I'VE SEEN HERE" — Col. M. Yakub of the Pakistan army, tells Romayne Cunningham, president of the ESSC World Outlook Club, and, Dr. Mary H. Pickard, advisor of the club, that the map the college had on stage for him to illustrate his talk about Pakistan is a "lovely, lovely map."
(Photo by Alice Hastings)

"I'VE COME here to study 'supply' — but I'm going home a speechmaker," quipped Col. M. Yakub of the Pakistan army, at the conclusion of an address he made yesterday to a group of students at the East Stroudsburg State College.

Col. Yakub, who has been at Tobyhanna Depot for the past three and a half months studying the American army's supply system, leaves Friday for Washington, D. C., then by plane to his home in Pakistan. He has been much in request as an after dinner speaker by groups in the Stroudsburg area.

Love Texas

He assured the ESSC students that they could visit his country without difficulty since English is spoken by someone everywhere. It is, in fact, a compulsory language in the higher education system. However, most of his compatriots would go further west than Pennsylvania if they came here.

"My people love Texas," he smiled. "Everybody in Pakistan it appears wants to go there. Why? We love horses. We breed horses. And we eat a lot of sheep meat."

There's a double educational system in Pakistan, one simply called the 'univ[illegible] system, the other the 'Cambridge University' system. The latter is modeled after the English university and in some ways comes under its rules.

Familiar Problem

'We have suddenly become aware of 'sports trouble' in our colleges," he remarked. In explanation, he said that it was discovered that some students think more of sports than of their studies. "So— we fixed that. Now we make sure it is as it was before. Studies first— sports second."

Most of the interest lies in the English games of cricket, soccer, tennis and field hockey. Pakistan holds the world's championship in field hockey.

In answer to a question about Pakistan's industrial state the colonel claimed that it is now self-supporting in cotton textiles and is negotiating with the Germans to establish a Mercedes plant, and is obtaining the services of a Krupps (German) engineer to help set up a steel industry.

Electricity Everywhere

There has been much emphasis on dam building and electro-power construction to that everywhere there is electricity —"In the poorest shack in way off mountains at home, there will be an electric light."

The colonel declined to speak of political matters as, he stated, "I am a professional soldier, so I do not speak of political troubles. However my people are religious, the majority are devout Moslems and Christians, so that this protects them from ideologies that are anti-religion."

Dr. John C. Appel and Dr. Mary H. Pickard of the local college's social studies department invited Col. Yakub to address the students.

The Mason-Dixon Line was establyished a century before the Civil War.

Fred Messerle Services Held

FUNERAL services for Fred Messerle, Bushkill, were held yesterday in the Lanterman Funeral Home. Rev. Robert Tulenko officiated and burial was in Sand Hill Cemetery, Bushkill.

Pallbearers were Sterling and William Schoonover, Russell Eshback, Richard DePue, Phillip Angle and Franklin Reidmiller.

Red China Aid

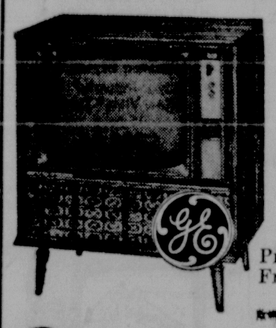

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Red China will give Nepal $3.36 million to enable the Himalayan kingdom to meet its share of local costs for projects executed with Peiping aid, the government reports. Nepal plans cement, leather and paper factories with $47 million in Chinese aid.

Illiteracy Gone?

HAVANA (AP)—The Fidel Castro regime claims illiteracy has been wiped out in Santa Clara, capital of Las Villas Province. It said nearly 20,000 persons in that city of 162,000 were taught to read and write in the current government drive on illiteracy.

Christmas Mailing Suggestions

"IT'S TIME to start planning your Christmas card and gift mailings," Postmaster Norman Gregory, of East Stroudsburg said yesterday as he launched his 1961 "Mail Early For Christmas" Campaign.

Looking ahead to what may be the biggest Christmas season ever, the Postmaster said further, "Here are the things to watch to help in getting every Christmas card and package delivered before December 25.

CHECK your Christmas card and gift lists carefully. Be sure each address is complete with full name, street and number, city, zone and state. Avoid abbreviations of city and state names.

FOR YOUR GIFT PACKAGES secure heavy wrapping paper, sturdy corrugated cartons, strong cord and adhesive tape. Remember, also, that you can include your Christmas card or letter inside your gift packages if you will add the appropriate First Class mail stamps to the postage for the package itself.

STOCK UP ON POSTAGE STAMPS — By doing this soon, you'll save lots of time that might be spent standing in line later on. When you go to the Post Office, ask for a supply of labels which read, "ALL FOR LOCAL DELIVERY" and "ALL FOR OUT OF TOWN DELIVERY," so that before you mail your Christmas cards you can sort them into two groups, with the addresses all facing one way, thus expediting delivery."

The Post Office will help you plan your Christmas mailings. Get a copy of Pamphlet No. 2, which gives full information about proper packaging and wrapping of parcels.

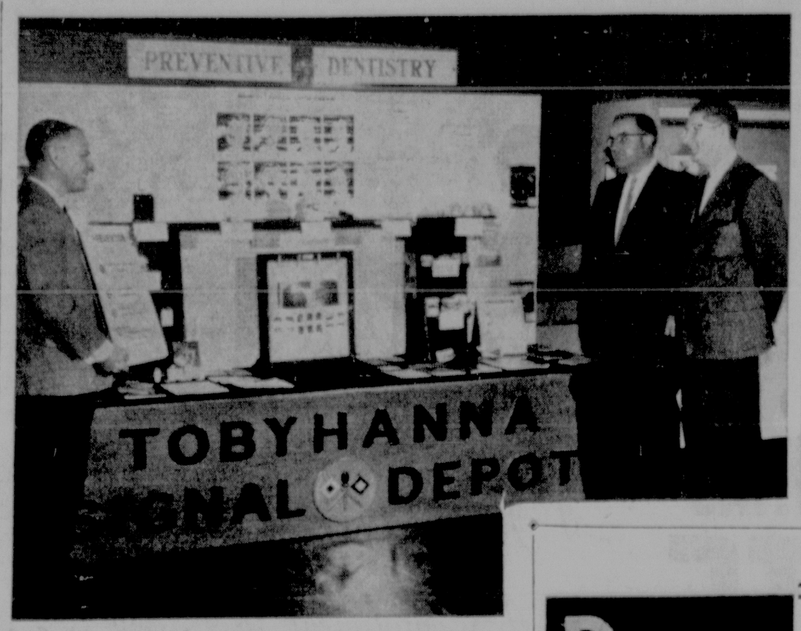

FIRST CLASS POSTAGE IS BEST for mailing your Christmas cards. All cards sent by 4c postage may include a personal handwritten message, and they'll be forwarded or returned, if that becomes necessary. Be sure to put your return address on your Christmas card envelopes. It's socially correct to do this, and enables both you and your friends to keep your mailing lists to-to-date.

Importance Of Planning

Predicting that this year's Christmas mail will set an all time record, even exceeding the 700,000 pieces that weer handled here in the pre-holiday season of 1960, Gregory pointed out the importance of planning your Christmas mailings now to avoid a lot of headaches when the Christmas rush comes in earnest.

He said further, that through the excellent cooperation of the public during recent Christmas seasons, he has been able to get all of the Christmas cards and packages dispatched and delivered before Christmas Eve.

"We can all make the 1961 'Mail Early For Christmas' Campaign a big success," Gregory continued, "if we'll all take a personal responsibility in planning our Christmas mailings so that cards and gift packages going to most distant points are mailed by December 10, and earlier, if possible. Christmas packages for local destinations should be mailed by December 15, and be sure to mail your Christmas cards for friends and relatives in this area at least a week before Christmas."

Steelmen Warn Competition Abroad Posing Challenge

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two steelmen warned Wednesday that foreign competition poses a growing challenge to the American steel industry.

The executives reviewed the world-wide steel situation in addresses at a Pittsburgh regional technical meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

R. W. Simon, vice president of metallurgy, U.S. Steel Corp., told the group:

"We have in European and in other world steelmakers some of the toughest, most resourceful competition we have ever faced. We believe they intend to meet and exceed our present product quality levels."

D. R. Loughrey, consultant to the superintendent of the open hearth department of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.'s Pittsburgh Works, said "Foreign competition will be an increasingly serious threat to the American way of life in the next few years."

Thomas F. Patton, president of Republic Steel Corp., said in a prepared dinner speech that the steel industry has a big communications job on its hands if it is to establish a business climate favorable to growth.

Patton said better understanding is needed in three areas, adding:

"First, it's important that the general public and our governmental representatives come to understand that steel companies are not public utilities, but operate within very competitive domestic and foreign markets."

Also, Patton said, the industry must make sure the American people and their lawmakers appreciate its production problems, and must inform the public that high living standards are the result of the productiveness of this country's economic system.

In another prepared talk Max Howell, executive vice president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, predicted national steel production in 1962 will top 100 million tons for the first time since 1957.

U. S. Escapee Disappointed In Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) —William McKinney, an American chemical engineer who brought his wife and five children to Australia to "escape socialism and inflation," said Wednesday he was surprised and disappointed after only five days here.

He has yet to get a job and a place to live and his wife, Helen, 36, is flabbergasted at the high prices.

McKinney, 40, who came from Franklin, Pa., has his family in a suburban Melbourne hotel for the time being.

"I applied for several jobs and I think I got a fair chance of getting one," he said, adding:

"But wages are only half as high here as in America, yet prices are higher. We have been hunting for houses but the rents are all much higher than at home—that is so surprising.

"Still, it is a bit early to judge yet. We have to wait and see. I still think of it as a challenge."

Said Mrs. McKinney:

"As my husband says, over here people are probably so busy exploiting the land they do not have time to exploit each other. Back home you get so tied up in all those community organizations you can run yourself ragged. You don't get time to think any more."

Kilt Not A Skirt

DUNOON, Scotland (AP) — A U.S. Navy official says American sailors in Scotland are being officially advised never to call the kilt a skirt. He said one did and "he was forcibly corrected by the chap who wore the kilt, a chap about two feet taller than the sailor."

TO STROUDSBURG—The Broad St. Interchange coming from Delaware Water Gap takes shoppers right into the heart of the Stroudsburg business section. Drivers must turn right here and go to stoplight at McMichaels Creek Bridge. There one can turn left up Ann St. and turn right into the business section at 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th streets. By going directly across Main St. at stoplight, motorists will be on Main St., the merchants territory.

HERE'S WHERE YOU GET THE GOOD WORD ABOUT THE '62 JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLET

Jet-smooth ride 542 slim-roof styling

Jet-smooth ride, n. 1. The cloud-9 feeling of comfort that people in Chevrolets enjoy wherever they go. 2. A supple Full Coil spring flexing at each wheel of a Chevrolet to absorb road shock. These are teamed with over 700 noise and vibration filters throughout the automobile so that the total effect is a ride of supreme quiet and smoothness. 3. The reason why so many Chevrolet-owning families leave home ever so happily. 4. A habit-forming pleasure for which no cure is known, wanted or sought.

new V8-skedaddle, n. 1. The result of touching an accelerator that's linked to one of Chevrolet's new V8 engines (also known as "six-skedaddle" when engine is Chevrolet's trusty 135-hp. Six). 2. The moving power of Chevrolet's 1962 V8 engines. There are five of them, ranging from a standard 170-hp. version up to an optional-at-extra-cost 409-hp. powerhouse.

Body by Fisher craftsmanship, n. 1. The closest that a body manufacturer has come to the infinite care and skill of the jewelry maker. 2. The art and science of designing and forming metal into the strong, solid body structure of the 1962 Chevrolet. Typical hallmarks are long, smooth sheet metal shapes without ripples or blemishes, neatly joined seams, and doors and trunk lids that are carefully shaped and fitted into place for easy opening and closing. 3. Something you won't find in any other car in Chevrolet's field.

deep-well trunk, n. 1. The giant warehouse built into the rear of a 1962 Chevrolet. 2. A trunk that loads at the bumper level and has a capacity of 29.7 cubic feet. It is built with an extra-deep recession in its floor so that it can easily accept odd-shaped outsize objects.

comfort-high seats, n. 1. Thought by many to be the most comfortable things to happen to the bottom side of the human lap since dad's overstuffed armchair. 2. Seats that are high enough to support and relax the thighs and weight-bearing muscles of the body (better for sitting, better for seeing). By providing resilient, deep-padded support throughout the backrest and seat itself, they bring on a remarkable feeling of comfort and well-being.

front fender underskirts, n. 1. An advance that's causing people to say things like "What won't those Chevrolet engineers come up with next!" 2. Sturdy steel linings that are under the front fenders of 1962 Chevrolets to add extra protection against flying stones, mud, slush, road salt and that old bugaboo, corrosion. 3. One of many ways the 1962 Chevrolet is built to stay beautiful.

rich new interiors, n. 1. One of the principal reasons why people step into the 1962 Chevrolets and promptly feel luxurious all over. 2. An arresting combination of lovely, long-lived materials used in an elegant way to decorate the new Chevrolet's passenger compartment and tickle the fancy of its occupants. 3. A harmonizing blend of the functional—such as the clean-cut, neatly ordered instrument panel—with the tasteful and the fresh.

slim-roof styling, n. 1. The clean-etched lines that typify the 1962 Chevrolet and contribute so much to its look of elegance. 2. Sometimes followed by words such as "Wow!" and "Look at that, will you!" 3. The happy result of inspired designers who are steeped in the art of using imagination and restraint.

One-Stop Shopping Center 543

One-Stop Shopping Center, n. 1. Where people go to get the most car for their money and get exactly the kind of car they want. 2. A concentration point for the 33 cars Chevrolet offers for 1962. These come in three lines: The elegant new Jet-smooth Chevrolet which gives you just about everything you could hope to find in an expensive car—without the expense. The new-size Chevy II that brings you sensibility at its Sunday best via nine models, including a hardtop, sedans, a convertible and station wagons. The sporty new Corvair which retains the rear-engine traction and nimble steering that made it a rally star and adds many new touches to please people with sports-car fever and a budget to answer to. And the Corvette, which offers new refinements, new V8 power. 3. Where '62 values are way up but prices are the same—or less—on comparably equipped models. 4. A Chevrolet dealer's place of business, which includes a showroom manned by friendly and knowledgeable salesmen; a large, carefully stocked parts department; a modern service center where factory-trained mechanics ply their skill; and best-buy OK used cars. 5. The place where you enter a new world of worth in automobiles. 6. Where most Americans go for a pleasant, instant cure the moment the new-car bug bites them.

Santa's Christmas list is growing

What Young People Think

What Gifts Youngsters Really Want

By Eugene Gilbert
President, Gilbert Youth Research, Inc.

CAN'T decide what to give your best girl for Christmas, boys? Give her jewelry. Girls do love jewelry—next to clothes, a private telephone and a typewriter, that is.

If you're undecided about the type of jewelry, a bracelet is almost sure to please. Most teen-age girls—65 per cent, to be exact—would prefer a bracelet to a necklace or ring or pins or earrings or even a watch.

This advice, of course, is for teen-age boys whose circumstances (budget included) would seem to rule out a young lady's first three Christmas gift preferences.

But we also have some tips for you parents, if you're interested; tips resulting from a nationwide cross-section survey of more than a thousand teen-age boys and girls on their likes and dislikes in the matter of gifts, plus some revealing comment on teen-age attitudes toward Christmas in general.

All types of gifts considered, most teen-age boys (22 per cent) are hoping to receive sports equipment and most girls (24 per cent) clothes.

Next on the boys' list of anticipated gifts comes a typewriter (preferred by 18 per cent), then clothes (12 per cent), then a tape recorder (8 per cent), then a car, bike and money.

Skirts Are Favorities

Nineteen per cent of the girls we talked to want to own their own telephone, 11 per cent want a typewriter and 10 per cent want jewelry.

But when we asked the girls their preference of five popular gifts—jewelry, clothes accessories, lingerie and handbags—an overwhelming 83 per cent picked clothes. Next in order are jewel (33 per cent), lingerie and handbags (11 per cent each) and accessories (9 per cent). Some of the girls just can't make up their minds, making more than one choice.

The favorite clothing gift (choice of 71 per cent) was skirts; followed by sweaters (65 per cent; blouses (41 per cent); and dresses (28 per cent)—choices influenced, perhaps, by current needs.

As noted, a bracelet was the favored choice in jewelry. The favorite accessory was footwear (59 per cent); and the favorite handbag, the large leather varity (80 per cent).

If all this makes you wary of the teen-age spirit of giving, rather than receiving, this finding should dispel your concern:

Nearly all the nation's teen-agers, 90 per cent, give presents to their parents; 61 per cent also include their friends; and 41 per cent include other than family and friends—the less fortunate, for example.

By and large, teen-agers are happy with the Christmas season, for a variety of reasons.

Nothing Like Christmas

Mike Dominic, 13, of Brooklyn, N.Y., didn't get his pool table, and Gale Frederick, 15, of Hyattsville, Md., didn't get a stuffed animal from her boyfriend. But aside from these disappointments 80 per cent of the girls and 65 per cent of the boys said last Christmas was all they had expected it to be, and 69 per cent of the girls and 78 per cent of the boys said they expected this Christmas to be even more satisfying.

The best thing about Christmas?

Mary Jane Holtzmam, 15, of Fullerton, Pa., said "it's fun to go shopping and wrap the gifts;" Carol Pruzinsky, 15, of Clementon, Pa., enjoyed decorating the tree; Lolly Lizotti, 15, of San Lorenzo, Calif., was inspired by the Christmas mass at church; 13-year-old Patricia Owens of Allentown, Pa., liked Christmas dinner; and others, like 16-year-old Sandy McDonald of Wilmington, Del., liked "the sleigh rides, the snowfall lights and sleeping late."

In fact, the only really disappointing thing about Christmas—and this to only 24 per cent of the teen-agers was that the school vation was too brief.

As 18-year-old James Saithby of Larchmont, N.Y., summed it up, 'Christmas is Christmas. You don't necessarily expect presents."

Questions Asked

What special gift are you hoping to receive for Christmas?

What type of jewelry do you like? What type of clothes? Accessories? Lingerie? Hand bags? (Girls only).

Did last Christmas come up to your expectations?

What, if anything, was disappointing?

What is the best thing about Christmas?

Do you expect this Christmas to be more or less satisfying than last?

For whom do you buy Christmas presents?

Accident Suit Settled

RUTLAND, Vt. (AP)—A $51,569 suit growing out of an automobile accident in 1959, was settled out of court. No amount was disclosed in the settlement of the suit by Esdra Howell, executor of the estate of Esdra Howell Jr. of Lackawanna County, Pa.

The suit, heard this week in United States District Court, was brought by the Howell's father against the St. Johnsbury Trucking Co. Young Howell and a companion were killed when their car collided with the rear of a tractor trailer on Route 11, Londonderry. The settlement was announced Tuesday.

ANAHEIM, Calif., derives its name from the Santa Ana River and the German word for "home." It was settled by Germans in 1857.

Nearly 80 per cent of the nation's families now carry some form of life insurance. To tell the public of the advantages of all types of insurance, companies in this field spent over $17 million in national newspaper advertising in 1960.

Problem Letters

Dear Mr. Gilbert,

When my Dad died, I gave up my dormitory room, lived at home and started commuting to college. When I go on to medical school, I won't be able to keep this up. At the same time, I want to be fair to my mother, who's been lost without Dad. Should I alter my plans to keep her from loneliness?

Dan R.
Detroit

Dear Dan,

You should not alter them. Painful as it will be to your mother to cut the ties, they must be broken. Discuss alternative plans with her. Can she take on a part-time job—rent rooms in her home to teachers—be a house mother at a nearby college—join forces with another unattached relative? Help her plan ahead for her own life, without you short-changing yours.

Eugene Gilbert

Dear Mr. Gilbert,

Whenever I give a party, even though it's a strictly dry affair, some of the boys bring beer, and keep making excuses to go out and drink it in their cars. My parents aren't on to this yet, but if they were, they'd hit the ceiling. I hate to stop the kids, because they may turn thumbs down on my next party. What's a way out?

Richmond,Va.
Doris R.

Dear Doris,

Beer plus cars add up to trouble. Set it strainght with the kids before the party. Tell them frankly liquor of any kind is out. If they prefer beer to your party, you don't want them as guests anyway.

Eugene Gilbert

Files Petition In Bankruptcy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Three creditors of the Pennsylvania Dutch Folklife Society, whose headquarters are in Lancaster County, filed an petition in involuntary bankruptcy against the society Wednesday.

The petition, filed in United States District Court, said the society, while insolvent, allowed certain persons and firms to obtain liens or allowed them to become preferred creditors over the three petitioners.

Instant coffee today accounts for about 20 per cent of all the coffee sold in the U.S., while instant tea has a 7.2 per cent share of the tea market. Manufacturers of coffee and tea, in promoting all their brands to consumers, spent over $8 million nationally in newspaper advertising last year.

Youths' Ingenuity Turns Cellar Into A Clubhouse

Gilbert Youth Service

THE POLICE don't know it. Social workers dont' know it. But in the heart of East Harlem, where 3,000 people crowd a single block, and the only play place for kids is the littered street, a group of youngsters has ingeniously created a clubroom all their own.

You go four steps down to a tenement basement, ducking to avoid the water pipes, and come upon two rooms furnished with pieces of linoleum, cast-off curtains, and rehabilitated furniture salvaged by the members.

There's a scrupulously neat office where the club leader, veteran of a long prison term, keeps dossiers on the members and assigns them work projects in the club.

There's a dearly cherished record player roaring out rock and roll favorites, a rack of detective paper backs, a table for doing homework and playing cards.

The cellar's likely to be damp, so the club members built a raised platform for the furniture. Out back is a square cement areaway. The sun shines there, and the kids are thinking they might be able to grow flowers in boxes, if they can get hold of some dirt.

Used To War

A few years back, the teenagers who now frequent the cellar club would have been warring in street gangs. But some of the gangs have been broken up, thanks to the crusading efforts of the club leader, a soft-spoken boy of Puerto Rican descent. "I told them what it was like up there (in prison). I didn't want them to go. They wouldn't like it there." So the switchblades and automatics are no more.

Now the kids — Puerto Ricans, Negroes, and native Americans — come after school to do their homework, listen to rock and roll, and plan an improvised play. They act out titles like "Sing Sing" and "Al Capone" and some of their rebelliousness fades away.

Their leader has hit on one of the keys to a successful club. All the members have jobs to do. One sweeps up every day, one takes out the trash.

Youth workers don't know the club is there. The kids have had enough of people telling them what to do. Now they're doing a job themselves.

Dear Abby

Count Your Change

Dear Abby: Recently a married couple and I (a single man) decided to join together and buy a wedding gift for a mutual friend When it came time for sharing the cost of the gift, we had a difference of opinion as to what the fair share for each of us should be.

My idea was to count the heads and divide the total charge by three. The couple's idea was that, since they were a married couple, they should be considered "one." In other words, they—the married couple—should pay half and I, the single man, should pay half. Who, in your opinion, was correct?

"COUNTING HEADS"

Dear Counting: A married couple may have two heads, but they have only one pocketbook, so they were correct to assume that in sharing the cost with you, they should pay half and you should pay half. Your mistake was in not having a clear understanding beforehand.

Dear Abby: What do you think of a husband who sends his wife a birthday card which reads, "TO MY SWEETHEART ON HIS BIRTHDAY"—and on the inside it says, "HAPPY BIRTHDAY FELLA!"? I was never so hurt in all my life to think that my husband didn't care enough about me to read the card more carefully before he sent it. What should I do?

VERY VERY HURT

Dear Hurt: Come on, now—your husband might have been in a hurry when he bought the card, but he DID think of you. If you can't bring yourself to kid him about his boo boo good-naturedly, forget it.

Dear Abby: I could write a book about what a disappointment my marriage has been. We are so incompatible I couldn't begin to list our differences. We have been married almost three years. I am 21 and my husband is 22, and we have two babies already, which is the only reason I am sticking with him.

Abby, I don't deserve any sympathy because my parents practically got down on their hands and knees and begged me to wait before marrying this boy, but I was "in love," and nobody could tell me anything. I'll stay married because of my children, but it isn't going to be easy with a gambling, lying, abusive husband. Pass on my hard-earned experience to other girls under 21. Listen to your parents. They love you more than a 19-year-old boy who has nothing to offer but promises.

AN OLD LADY AT 21

Everybody's got a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of this paper.

Chester Father, Son In Army

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A Chester, W.Va., man and his son are in the Army. They're happy about it and so is the distaff member of the family.

Mrs. Paul G. Reed out it this way: "I feel better that they went together."

Reed, 38, and his son, Paul, 17, left Pittsburgh Tuesday night for basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. They enlisted about two weeks ago.

Reed agreed with his wife. "I think it's a good idea that we're going together," he said.

As for his reason for joining the Army, Reed said: "Getting out of the Army in 1945 was the biggest mistake I ever made." His son said he wants to make a career out of it.

After Reed get a permanent assignment, his wife and another son, Kenneth, 15, will join him.

Valuable Art Lost

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—A Hungarian commission reports many thousands of valuable art objects have been lost from state museums through negligence. It said one valuable vase sent to Czechoslovakia for exhibition turned up later for sale in a Budapest state-run store.

Fire Routs 16 Families

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP) — Fire of undetermined origin wrecked a three-story brick apartment building in downtown New Castle early Wednesday and routed 16 families from their beds.

Peter Rozi, New Castle fire chief, estimated damage at $300,000. He said flames spread so rapidly that none of the occupants had time to salvage any possessions.

The building also housed a meat market on the ground floor.

Firemen from New Castle and surrounding areas battled the blaze for about 2½ hours and kept it from spreading to other structures in the business block.

Wind Gap Yule Lights To Glow

DeGaulle Fills In Cabinet

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle filled in his Cabinet Wednesday on his conversations last weekend with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

A spokesman said De Gaulle reported he was "very satisfied with the atmosphere of the talks, which were particularly cordial."

The subject matter of the conversations included the Berlin question and Britain's possible entry into the European Common Market.

'Oldsters' Get Jobs In S-burg Area

Record Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG — The State Department of Labor and Industry said today that 21.0 percent of the job placements in the Stroudsburg area during October went to "older workers."

In the overall picture, 124 area persons were placed in jobs last month of which number 26 were in the "older worker" category—those persons over 45 years of age. All placements, said the department, were in nonagricultural fields.

Of the 124 persons placed during the month, only one was in the "65 and over" category.

One Over 65

Of 192 new applications filed with the Bureau of Employment Security during the month, 45 or 23.4 percent were in the older worker classifiation. Of this number, one application was filed by a person over 65, or 0.5 percent of the total.

Customs 'Breaks' Red Barrier

BERLIN (AP)—An East German customs officer drove a huge truck at breakneck speed out of the Communist control area on the Berlin border Wednesday in a successful escape.

The customs man, wearing his uniform, was one of nine East Germans and East Berliners who fled to the West.

West German police said the customs officer's fellow guards were caught by surprise when he broke away with his truck.

Austerity In Portugal

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—The minister of finance on Wednesday announced an austerity program for the Portuguese—including substantial tax increases.

Minister Antonio Pinto Barbosa proposed that "the rich and strong shall pay more and the small and economically weak may pay less."

Military expenditures in Angola, and terrorism which has changed Angola from a profit to a deficit province, are believed responsible for the austerity.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

I'll admit to a slight resemblance, but it was hardly necessary for you to greet me with a "Well, so you're back, Enos!" last night. And I'm going to lug along a pea-shooter for the next character who offers me a banana pellet.

Which doesn't mean to say I wasn't cheering him on all day yesterday all the way, and very silly it sounded, too, yelling away in an empty house. But if there'd been somebody else there, I probably would have been shamed out of wasting so much time waiting and watching the launch.

I couldn't find anybody else who had: you were too busy being careful, cleaning, getting your dinner even-ready, so you could Christmas shop this afternoon, wrapping the gifts you'd already bought, or addressing Christmas cards.

Which reminds me that one of the most thoughtful gifts I've had in a long time was a box of very handsome Christmas cards, all imprinted with my name from a group who apparently realizes that I always put off everything until the last minute, bless them!

Actually, instead of feeling sorry for the chimp, there might be same of us who could envy him those three hours out of this busy world. Like, for instance, Bob Clark who spent his birthday struggling to get out a 32-page paper.

Or, come Monday, Sally Ferrebee who, after a frantic two weeks of advance taping her radio program and a full-throated expedition with the Shawnee Choir, is due to have her tonsils out. Imagine not being able to complain vocally about the hectic pace of December.

And certainly Mary Leister would have welcomed a short space hop last night. In spite of the fact that she hasn't played the piano in public for years, she agreed to serve as pianist for the service following the family night supper. She practiced up the hymns faithfully, only to discover when she got there that they'd substituted totally different ones; and with four sharps, yet!

Miss Rebecca Oyer Bride In First Church, Bangor

Bangor—Miss Rebacca Irene Oyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Oyer, of Dewey St., East Bangor, was married on the eve of Thanksgiving at 7:30 in the First United Ev. Church, Bangor, to Richard Paul Hughes. Mr. Hughes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cynval Hughes, of 209 South Main St., Bangor.

Rev. C. B. Starr performed the ceremony, with Mrs. Arthur Cox as organist. The reception was held in the church social room.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of peau de soie appliqued in Alencon lace re-embroidered with sequins, pearls and crystals. It featured a portrait neckline and a bouffant skirt with a chapel train. A double crown trimmed with pearls and crystals held her veil of silk illusion. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of star orchids and silver frosted grapes on a white lace-covered Bible.

Miss Barbara Sleep, of East Stroudsburg, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of green velvet and taffeta with a boat neckline, bouffant skirt and velvet train. She carried a crescent bouquet of brown quilled chrysanthemums and bronze grapes with wheat.

The bridesmaids, Nancy Jones, of Bangor, and Patricia Wray, of Pen Argyl, wore gowns of gold velvet and taffeta in a similar style. They carried carried crescent bouquets of maroon quilled chrysanthemums with green grapes and wheat.

All of the attendants wore matching headpieces of velvet and taffeta.

A graduate of Pen Argyl Area Joint High School, the bride attended Churchman's Business College and is employed at Oyer's Family Shoe Store. Her husband, a graduate of Bangor High School, attended East Stroudsburg State College and Churchman's Business College. He is employed at First National Bank, Bangor.

After a wedding trip to Virginia they will make their home at 109 Broadway, Bangor.

Middle Age No Barrier For Creative Future

By Roberta Fleming Roesch

"It must be the gray November doldrums that make me think life is not only passing me by — but has already passed!" a woman told me after a meeting last night.

"Over the weekend I added up the score on where I stand now.

"I'm fifty-two. My children are grown up and away. I've never worked a day in my life and, as a result, I have neither training nor experience to guide me to anything challenging now.

Unhappy Outlook

"As I look back over the past fifty years, I haven't really accomplished a thing," she added gloomily. "So I guess there's not much hope for me in the years ahead."

Contrary to this woman's supposition about the years ahead, I believe the opportunity and challenge in any woman's future lies not in the credits she has achieved in the past but in the endless search for the things she has not yet accomplished.

No Barrier

Actually, the middle years have never been a barrier in working toward this endless search. Oliver Wendell Holmes had his most creative period when he was between 50 and 75. Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson both turned out some of their most exciting ideas when they were in their eighties.

I know a woman who, at 80, still conducts the real estate business which she started when she was 50. I know another woman, 60, who commutes to one job during the day and sells tickets in a theater at night. A friend of mine in her seventies, who lectures on world affairs, just returned from Europe where she went for firsthand news.

All of these women I've mentioned began when they were past 50, and all they had when they started was a good idea that they desperately needed to channel into earning power.

New Start

How do you get a new start yourself, wherever you're living now, if you feel, like the reader in today's mail, that life has passed you by?

First of all, let yourself go when you're thinking up ideas for making the most of the abilities you have. Don't worry about keeping both feet on the ground. Spread your wings a bit!

The woman who still works in real estate at 80 was told she'd never succeed because she'd never worked. The woman who holds two jobs was told she'd ruin her health if she attempted such a venture. And the woman who lectures on world affairs was scoffed at by her friends.

Benjamin Franklin Was Still Creative At 80

Still Opportunity

Adding up the score of your life, whether you're 30, 40, 50, 60, 70, or 80, you'll find it's the opportunity you can work for now, the reach beyond the grasp, the thing you aspire to be and are not, and the end that's never quite achieved that can make life really challenging!

Portland Club Is Host To Bangor Women

Portland — The Portland Woman's Club was host to members of the Bangor Womans' Club at their November meeting held at the club rooms on State St.

Mrs. Raymond Beck presided at the meeting with Mrs. Frances Morhard leading the meditation. The club voted a donation for Christmas street lighting.

Mrs. Horace Ruseling introduced the program which included piano solos, duets and tap dances by Dale and Patrick Capozzolo. Mrs. Madalyn Maloney, Stroudsburg, displayed and discussed her collection of Madonnas.

Hostesses were Mrs. Marian Slocum, chairman; Mrs. Edgar Dalberg, Mrs. Harry Bellis, Mrs. Eugene Ambruch, Mrs. Lloyd Correll, Mrs. William Stine and Mrs. Bernard Oliver.

Flying Tinsmith Will Pick Up Moderator

Jim Banks of Ninth St., Stroudsburg, known as "the flying tinsmith," will fly to Philadelphia on Friday with Pastor Bruce Fox of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. There they will pick up Dr. Winton H. Beaven who will conduct panel discussion of local civil leaders on alcoholism on Friday and Saturday nights at the Adventist school.

Beaven will be interviewed over WVPO during his weekend visit.

Foreman—Albert

Harry A. Foreman Jr., Marshalls Creek and Helen Louise Albert, Mt. Bethel RD 1, applied for a marriage license yesterday from N. Henry Fenner, Monroe County clerk of orphans' court.

Varied Careers In Many Lands Assembled Around Local Thanksgiving Table

From Germany, Napal, Tokyo, Syria and Africa, 24 members of her family congregated at the home of Mrs. Arthur Rugh, Swiftwater, for their first Thanksgiving together in many years.

They brought with them news of unusual experiences in far off places: In Dr. Alfred Schweitzer's hospital in Africa; with Dr. Jimmy Yen in the International Educational Mass Movement; of new books being published; new ventures undertaken.

The matriarch of the family, Mrs. Arthur Rugh, has also led a wide-ranging life, both geographically and in matter of interests, and presided at the long table, made in China in 1905, where the 18 adults were seated. The six children had a small round table of their own.

Dr. Roberts Rugh served as master of ceremonies as they reported on their activities. After dinner old family movies were shown when the grown men and women saw themselves learning to walk, tumbling down only to try again.

"As you have done through the years," their mother reminded them. Before they left they toured her studio to help themselves to some of the paintings which she has done over the past few years for their own homes.

A brief biography of each of the assembled family members sounds like a miniature who's who:

Lectures in Germany

Dr. and Mrs. Roberts Rugh of New York City, have just returned from a summer in Germany where Dr. Rugh gave lectures at universities in his field of biology and radiology. His laboratory is at the Medical Center, New York City, and his government work under Columbia University largely consists of research and lecturing.

Mrs. Roberts Rugh retired last June after 30 years as supervisor of nursery schools in New York City, first at the Riverside Church and then at The Town School, a private school in downtown New York.

With Dr. Schweitzer

Dr. and Mrs. Steven S. Spencer and their four little girls are now at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn. Mrs. Spencer is Mrs. Arthur Rugh's granddaughter. They recently returned from six months in Africa where Dr. Spencer was sent to make a special study of the heart with Dr. Alfred Schweitzer. While there Mrs. Spencer helped in the nursery.

Dr. and Mrs. A. Douglas Rugh of Wethersfield, Conn., and their two daughters: Miss Molly Rugh, a recent graduate of Oberlin College, who is teaching mathematics in the Berkeley Heights, N. J., high school, and eight-year-old June Caroline.

Dr. Douglas Rugh is head of the psychology of education department of The Connecticut State Teachers College in New Britain, Conn., where he supervises ten professors as well as teaching, lecturing and writing. His most recent article is "How to Teach Chinese History in the Public Schools."

His wife, Belle Dorman Rugh, has her second story for teenagers coming out this spring by Houghton, Mifflin Co. Her first story "Crystal Mountain" received the Herald Tribune Award two years ago. The second story, "The Path Above the Pines," is a mystery story for teenagers laid in Syria where Mrs. Rugh was born and grew up.

Prof. and Mrs. A. Jarrard Downs and their three children, Jennifer, Michael and John, of Baltimore, Md. Prof. Downs, born of missionary parents in Tokyo, Japan, teaches English and dramatics in the Gilman Private Boy's School in Baltimore. His wife is a former biology technician, and now is working in art, especially in sculpture.

Mr. and Mrs. William Arthur Rugh and small son, David, live on Morningside Drive in New York City, where Mr. Rugh is a graduate student at Columbia University working toward his PhD. in government. He is the son of the Roberts Rughs.

Douglas Roberts Price, son of Mrs. Arthur Rugh's daughter, is also a graduate student working for his doctorate in Washington University, Washington, D. C.

For Mass Education

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bayard Price, now living in New York City, after three years in Napal with the United Natoions. Mr. Price is now co-partner with Dr. Jimmy Yen in The International Educational Mass Movement with his office in New York City.

This new work came in for considerable discussion at the table. Dr. Yen started the movement during World War I when he was sent overseas for special work with Chinese coolies. Overwhelmed by requests to write letters home, he decided to teach them to write their own letters.

Selecting 1,000 of the most commonly used Chinese characters to form a kind of alphabet, he started to teach them. They learned with such speed that they were soon begging to be taught a trade, craft or even a profession.

Encouraged by their success, he returned to China and took over an entire Chinese village where his repeated success with mass education spread to many countries where illiteracy is high. Uprooted by the Communists from China, the work was transplanted to the Philippines where it has been flourishing for the past 15 years.

The Wyckoff Shopper
"the friendly store"
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

One glimpse of anything turquoise and my day becomes brighter. I just love that color, particularly when it is combined with dark brown mink, as it was when I met Mrs. Russell Low in our center aisle the other afternoon. Her tall cloche was a softly draped velvet, her scarf was silk—both were turquoise and blended beautifully with her eyes. How wonderful to look like that for even one enchanting moment of a lifetime! . . . When Wyckoff's really settles down to Christmas advertising, I am sure many Daily Record readers will wish to frame our ads. The artist is Marlena Andrews, who joined our store family about a month ago as assistant to Arthur Widmer. She's an extraordinarily talented young woman, so don't miss our ads! They're going to be terrific . . . "Madalyn, I never thought anyone could one day be calling you 'skinny'," Margaret Dunning Cramer remarked, as she passed me at the foot of our Wyckoff stairway the other afternoon. "I never knew anyone could call her that now," our President, Holt Wyckoff quipped, tactfully adding that he doesn't consider 'skinny' a particularly complimentary adjective. If only he knew! That word, when it signifies you're down to the correct weight and the correct dress size after far too long, is music sweeter than a Christmas carol! . . . Inasmuch as the Santa Train left East Stroudsburg station at 9 a.m. this year rather than 10, it was impossible to do our usual interviews from there. However, thanks to Jess Pierson, manager of our Sears store; Paul Mannix, salesman of TVs and such, and a Sears Silvertone tape recorder, we were able to talk with Santa and many of his little friends in Toyland Friday afternoon. The children were charming, and Santa seems to have a remarkable understanding of them. Hope you heard the broadcast Monday morning. The Silvertone recorder, incidentally, is a very compact, handsome piece of equipment, weighing approximately 30 pounds, having a very nice, easy-to-handle metal microphone, and two speeds. It retails for 199.95. Anyone who desires or needs a tape recorder would love finding this beneath his Christmas tree, I'm sure . . . Today is the day of the Red Cross Blood Mobile is soliciting blood at the Methodist church of East Stroudsburg. If you care to donate, please report to the church between 10:30 and 4:30. It's a most worthy cause, and the gift of life is a privilege to give . . . "Write up my beautiful lingerie window," cries Little Cora (Albertson, that is) as she brushes past me enroute to her busy department. It's gorgeous, so naturally she's proud. Our entire front window is a treasure chest, overflowing with the frilly, lacy, elegant "intimate garments" women love. There are sleek jersey pajamas in creamy beige with satin trim and a tiny blush of rose applique at 9.00; a dress-length robe with satin collar and slash-through belt that permits the back to swing free, at 11.00; a slip, frothed with lace, in matching shade; a wickedly scrumptious black slip with Petti-Pants of black that have harlequin applique in giddy color; also a black crinoline, cascading enchantingly over red . . . oh, so many things the eye can't possibly absorb them all! This window should convince any man of one important thing: if SHE is special, and he wants to let her know, the LINGERIE department is the PERFECT place to go! . . . For a moment, I thought someone had sent me a bouquet of long stemmed roses, until Dottie Dunn said they were from Amy Eilenberger. Then I knew they were just a bid for mention in the column—and I was right. You'd be right too if you would buy several to blossom forth from the Christmas stockings of your women friends. The long stems are covered in satin, and the roses themselves are of silk and organza. Each rose is sufficiently large to back a hand mirror about 4 inches in diameter. The most Christmasy are red, but there are others in wonderful shades of Pink, Blue and Yellow, as well as White. At the top of each, half hidden in petals, is a satin loop by which the mirror may be hung. When I see these, I am reminded that in the powder room of Madame Helena Rubinstein's apartment there is a large wall mirror, with a pretty hand mirror hung nearby at an angle. The same idea might be carried out effectively with one rose, or by criss-crossing the stems of two. You'll find these in Notions (and there's no charge for my decorating suggestion!)

THE FORMER Miss Pocono Mountains is a Mrs. now —and naturally spent her honeymoon in the Poconos. Here Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stow are admiring the Thanksgiving display at Pocono Garden Lodge. Mrs. Stow is the former Miss Joan E. Hinsdale, and is a graduate of East Stroudsburg State College.

Helen Stapff Dietz' Ideas Make Hatboro Feature Item

Monroe County women make their influence felt in club life even when they live in other communities. The former Helen Stapff, daughter of Julius Stapff, of Paradise Valley, now Mrs. Dietz, was the subject of a feature article in the Hatboro paper, The Public Spirit.

Mrs. Dietz is home life chairman of the Crooked Billet Woman's Club and the feature dealt with her plans for the holiday decorations for their home on Spring Ave., Hatboro. It is headed by a picture of Mrs. Dietz and her children, Billy and Margie, spraying and sprinkling glitter on pine cones for their tree.

A tree branch from her back yard, sprayed white, and decorated with tiny Christmas balls tied on with ribbons is another idea.

One of the most unusual decorations is a real bird's nest, sprayed gold, in which she has placed four tiny blue balls to resemble eggs, and played on a spray of greens for a centerpiece.

Mrs. Dietz is also making toaster dolls to match her friends' kitchens for gifts. Other handmade gifts include handmade Christmas aprons and earrings of red and green rickrack.

Meatloaf Frosted With Mashed Potatoes Makes Hit

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

New fangled main dishes may come and go, but pleasing beef loaf recipes stay in family recipe files.

So many variations of this meat loaf! As a rule, the meat is extended and the texture softened by the addition of a "filler." For this we often use soft bread crumbs because they may be mixed so thoroughly with the meat that they are unobstrusive.

Liquid, too, goes into the meat mixture, and this may be water, milk, or as suggested here, tomato juice. An egg is added for the sake of body and texture.

Some cooks have their own pet seasonings for meat loaves. The combination here gives excellent but not strong flavor.

An extra fillip for this loaf is a covering of mashed potatoes—these prepared the easy way, from a package.

Four of us, all grownups, managed to do away with this loaf at one meal. If you have any left over, you'll find it takes to reheating.

Snowy Meat Loaf

1 egg
½ cup tomato juice
1 tablespoon instant minced onions or 2 tablespoons finely grated onion (pulp and juice)
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon parsley flakes or 1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 pound ground chuck beef
1 envelope (4 servings) instant mashed-potato granules
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Beat egg enough to combine yolk and white; mix in thoroughly the tomato juice, onion, Worcestershire, salt, parsley, and bread crumbs. Add meat; mix well. Turn into greased loaf pan (about 8 by 4 by 3 inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 45 minutes; remove from oven; pour off juices; turn out meat loaf in a shallow pan and allow rest of juices to drain off and the loaf to cool somewhat. Place loaf on a heat-resistant oven platter or in a shallow baking pan. Meanwhile prepare potato according to package directions, then beat in the butter. Cover top and sides of cooled baked meat loaf with mashed potatoes; the drained cool loaf keeps potatoes from slipping off. Mark potatoes with fork tines. Bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven 10 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Could Get 370 Years, $370,000 Fine

Fixer In Cage Scandal Pleads Guilty 37 Times

NEW YORK (AP) — Pale and shaken, 28-year-old gambler Aaron Wagman pleaded guilty Wednesday to a sweeping indictment naming him as a master fixer in recent college basketball scandals. He could receive sentences totaling 370 years and fines up to $370,000.

The move came as a surprise at the start of his trial on 37 counts of bribery and one of conspiracy. He entered a plea of guilty to all.

Ashen faced as he stood in General Sessions Court, Wagman told Judge Joseph A. Sarafite that he had been promised nothing by anyone as a condition for his move. The judge accepted the plea and set Jan. 10 for sentencing.

No Indication

There was no indication as to what prompted Wagman, who gave his occupation as a salesman, to take the unexpected step.

Upon his indictment last April, Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said Wagman had bribed nine players of five colleges and universities to cut down on their teams' margins as much as $1,500 a player, and gins of victory.

Hogan said the payments ran to totaled $14,250. Many of the fix attempts during the past two seasons were successful, Hogan said.

The point-rigging system was designed as a means for gamblers such as Wagman to beat the bookmakers. In such cases the players do not necessarily attempt to lose games.

Wagman was the key figure in a grand jury probe lasting for months. The inquiry eventually involved 37 players from 22 schools and concerned fix attempts in 29 games.

The scandal paralleled that of a decade ago, which implicated 33 players from seven colleges. Some of the players then went to jail.

In the current case, all but one of the 37 athletes received immunity from prosecution in return for their testimony before the grand jury, and that which they would have given in court.

Wagman also has pleaded guilty to attempted bribery of a detective from the district attorney's office at the time of his arrest March 27.

Grid Game

In addition, Wagman was convicted of attempting to fix the Florida - Florida State football game in 1960. He has been out on bail pending appeal.

An associate, Joseph Green, 37, pleaded guilty Monday to charges of bribing Columbia University player Fred Portnoy to shave points in four games last season. Green could receive a maximum sentence of 20 years and a $20,000 fine.

Three others were to have gone to trial with Wagman, but their cases were postponed until Friday.

They are Louis Brown, 22, of Jersey City, N.J., former star player for the University of North Carolina; Jerry Vogel, 24, of the Bronx, former player for the University of Alabama, and Daniel Quindazzi, 24, of Yonkers, N.Y., also a former Alabama player.

Brown was indicted on two counts of bribery and one of conspiracy. Quindazzi and Vogel were charged with a bribery and conspiracy count each.

Top Scorers Are Back

Pleasant Valley Will Open Friday

BRODHEADSVILLE — Pleasant Valley Joint High School, with two of its three top scorers back from last year, will open its 1961-62 season Friday night against Southern Wayne.

The independent game will be played on the home court with the jayvees getting underway at 7:30 p.m.

Head coach Bill Frear will be putting his squad for the first time in the Black Diamond League. The team will play a number of independent games with area clubs before the Jan. 9th league opener with Coaldale.

In addition to Coaldale, Nothwestern and Slatington are the new members which Pleasant Valley will face for the first time.

Coach Bill Frear

The Bears finished third last season while campaigning in the now defunct Pocono Mountain Basketball League. The jointure of the new Pocono Mountain Joint Schools caused the loop to disband. The new school brings together eight districts that previously competed in the league.

Starting Team

Frear will bank on Jim Fritz and Ed Romascavage, along with Donny Rinker, Bill Martucci, Dale Eckley and Charles Dotter to make a deep impression in the Black Diamond loop.

Fritz, a guard, and Romascavage, a forward, will be co-captains of the team.

Romascavage paced the Bears last season with an 18 point average. He was followed closely by Fritz with 13 points per game.

The team, overall, averages an even six feet in height.

In reserve, Frear will count on John Mills, Jim Hook, Herb Gower, Barry Hook (not brothers) Barry Schaffer and Donald Burger.

Rinker and Martucci are both juniors, while Eckley, Dotter, and Romascavage are seniors.

A tentative lineup will have Rinker at center; Fritz and Martucci at guards and Romascavage and either Eckley or Dotter at forwards.

Frear has been practicing the Bears since the first of November and the team is in pretty good shape.

Jack Newell will handle the junior varsity squad at Pleasant Valley. The schedule:

Dec. 1	South'n Wayne	H-7:30
Dec. 5	Stroud Union	H-7:30

Coach Petchel Receives Car In Pen Argyl

PEN ARGYL football fans awarded the high school's grid coach Elwood Petchel Tuesday night for the splendid season just concluded.

Petchel was given a car before a crowd of 200 fans in the Albion House.

John Lobb, chairman of the group which met each week to view movies of Pen Argyl football, turned the keys over to Petchel.

Blaine Strunk, Rodney Miller and Robert Ealey, assistant coaches also received gifts.

Petchel in his first year at Pen Argyl High led the Green Knights to a 9 and 1 record, the Lehigh-Northampton crown, The Daily Record 'Big Four' crown and the Ira Resh trophy.

In addition, the team rolled to nine straight wins after losing the opener and compiled 284 points. It gave up 112 points in the ten games.

Following the presentation, Petchel, a native of Wilson Boro, showed movies of the Bangor game.

Airmans Is Named Top Filly For '61

NEW YORK (AP) — Hugh A. Grant's Airmans Guide overcoming ailments at two and three which would have sidelined many a horse, was named the champion handicap filly and mare of 1961 Wednesday by the Thoroughbred Racing Associations board of selection.

At age two, the 4-year-old filly gave promise of being one of the best of her sex. But her unbeaten campaign was restricted to six races because of a virus infection. Early last year in her 3-year-old season, she was sidelined by a bone chip in her knee.

Fully recovered after 10 months of inactivity, the daughter of one count-navigating reached her peak in 1961. She won seven of her 10 starts, including the Suwanee River, Regret, New Castle, Delaware and Beldame handicaps, for earnings of $239,551. Her best race was in the Beldame which she defeated all of her principal rivals including Berlo, Royal Native, Craftiness, My Portrait, and Funloving of the 3-year-olds.

Ohio State's Ferguson Is Back Of Week

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State's Bob Ferguson, who closed out his fine college football career with one of his most powerful performances, was selected Wednesday as The Associated Press back of the week.

The rock-solid Buckeye fullback smashed 152 yards on 30 carries and scored four touchdowns as Ohio State overwhelmed traditional rival Michigan 50-20 last Saturday.

Ferguson, an All-America as a junior last year and a prime candidate to repeat, finished his final varsity season in typical style against the Wolverines. The 214-pounder scored on a 19-yard run and on three one-yard plunges, running his touchdown total for the year to 11.

A sheer-muscle charger with tremendous drive, Ferguson was the durable leader of Ohio State's powerful ground attack. He carried 202 times in nine games (eight victories, one tie) and made 938 yards, averaging 4.6 per try.

Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes regards him the best player in the country, and a more impartial observer labels Ferguson "a one-man gang of the Bronko Nagurski type."

Norway Skaters To Arrive Here

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The Norwegian Ice Hockey Federation decided Wednesday it would send a team to the world championship tournament at Colorado Springs, Colo., March 8-18.

Seventeen players and officials will leave Feb. 24 on a chartered plane with teams from Sweden and Finland and possibly Denmark for the over-the-pole flight to either Chicago or Minneapolis.

Tallest members of the Baltimore Colts are linemen Tom Gilburg of Syracuse and Dee Mackey of East Texas State. They are 6-feet-5.

Who Will Replace OSU In Rose Bowl?

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — All the fan could do Wednesday was sit back and await developments in the 1962 Rose Bowl picture.

The only sure thing was that UCLA will have its football team ready for the New Year's Day grid spectacle. Its athletic department is getting geared for the usual avalanche of demands for tickets.

UCLA will be the host university but it is up to the athletic directors of all schools in the Big Five Conference to decide on the team to be invited.

There was no indication of anything transpiring from the conference executive director, Tom Hamilton. He has said an announcement will be made before the week is out.

In Columbus, President Novice G. Fawcett of Ohio State announced the faculty committee's ban on the Rose Bowl is final.

Speculation continued the invitation might go to Minnesota, Purdue or Michigan State.

NCAA President Would Like Hearing On ND Win

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Henry B. Hardt, president of the NCAA, said Wednesday the NCAA rules committee would be glad to consider action on the controversial football game of Nov. 18 between Syracuse and Notre Dame.

"But," he added, "I doubt that we can get together before the group convenes in Chicago in January."

The controversy was touched off when Syracuse charged that a field goal after time had expired in the game was illegal. The field goal enabled the Irish to win the game 17-15.

Gen. Bob Neyland of the NCAA rules committee said Tuesday the victory came on an illegal play. However, Notre Dame's vice president, the Rev. Edmund C. Joyce, refused to accept the verdict and asked for judgment by "a competent board."

Hardt said he received a request from Notre Dame asking the council to investigate the matter and that he had replied by letter.

He called the incident embarrassing and regrettable and said he sincerely hoped some decision could be reached quickly between the two schools.

Roger Maris and Moose Skowron were the first two batters to strike out three times in the 1961 World Series.

Antlered Deer Season To Open Dec. 4; Herd Is Good

THE white-tailed deer, official state animal of Pennsylvania, soon will be the target of many thousands of hunters in the state. From December 4 to 16, inclusive, deer with 2 or more points to an antler or having a spike 3 or more inches long may legally be taken by shooters and archers in this state. Full information as to laws governing the hunt will be found on the official hunting and trapping digest issued with the hunting license.

During the buck season last year successful hunters reported bagging 38,430 legal antlered deer. Should hunting conditions prove desirable in the upcoming season, the state's wildlife administrators anticipate a comparable harvest.

The Pennsylvania deer herd numbers approximately the same as last year at this time, and many bucks with trophy racks have been reported.

The number of shooting sportsmen who hunt in the vicinity of farmlands and the number of large bucks with trophy racks taken in such areas increases each season.

Successful deer (and bear) hunters are asked to promptly send their big game kill reports to the Game Commission, Harrisburg. This information is important to the future management of the valuable game species in Pennsylvania.

Study Continues

Additional specimens of antlered doe deer and bucks with antlers still in the velvet, bagged during the 1961 buck season, are earnestly desired by Dr. John C. Donaldson of the University of Pittsburgh Medical School and Dr. J. Kenneth Doutt of the Carnegie Museum. These scientists are continuing the study of the freak occurrences, being interested in determining what causes the peculiarities in the white-tail and the possible relationship to human abnormalities.

Any hunter who kills a doe deer with antlers, no matter how small, or a buck with antlers in the velvet, is asked to phone, collect: Dr. J. Kenneth Doutt, Carnegie Museum, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. The number is MAyflower 1-7300.

Dr. Doutt would like to examine the specimen before it is dressed out. However, if the hunter prefers to field dress his deer immediately the entrails should be kept cold (preferably frozen) and protected from damage by dogs or wild animals until the specimen can be examined.

Baylor Accepts Gotham Bowl Bid

NEW YORK (AP)—Baylor University has accepted an invitation to play Utah State in the Gotham Bowl here Dec. 9, Bill Stein, chairman of the selection committee, announced Wednesday.

The game will be payed in the Polo Grounds.

Baylor has a 5-4 record and is a member of the Southwest Conference.

Utah State has a 9-0-1 record.

May Withdraw

MANILA (AP) — The Philippines' Games and Amusements Board (GAB) says it will withdraw from the U.S. National Boxing Association (NBA) if the NBA refuses to recognize the championship fight between Flash Elorde, world junior lightweight titleholder, and Italy's Sergio Caprari.

Press reports have said the NBA has decided not to recognize the Elorde-Caprari fight, scheduled for Dec. 16 here.

AP Picks Army And Duke, Says Alabama Will Lose

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hunger probably will decide one of the two big games on this final football Saturday (Army-Navy), and thirst for revenge will dictate the result of the other (Alabama-Auburn).

So the 1961 campaign will end on a note characteristic of the season itself — surprise. Last week's score 28-12 for .700.

Army 21, Navy 18: Army has won only one of the last five games and has been upended in the last two by the exploits of Joe Bellino, no longer around. Army will score three touchdowns during the half that President Kennedy, a touch football specialist, sits on the Cadets' side. Navy will score two and a field goal when JFK is seated among the Middies.

Picks Auburn

Auburn 7, Alabama 0: Alabama, unbeaten and untied, rated No. 1 and looking to the Sugar Bowl, should be a sitting duck for a big, tough rival wanting to get even for last year's 3-0 setback.

Duke 18, Notre Dame 15: The Blue Devils unleash a bevy of race horse halfbacks against an Irish team still reeling from the Iowa debacle.

Mississippi 33, Mississippi State 7: Ole Miss has the stuff and pours it on against a traditional state foe.

Georgia Tech 14, Georgia 7: Noggins crack when cracker meets cracker.

Oklahoma 20, Oklahoma State 7: Bud Wilkinson, whose 47 straight set a modern consecutive winning game record a few years back, stretches his new skien to five.

Tennessee 19, Vanderbilt 14: Knoxville will rock and roll with this one.

Texas Christian 13, Southern Methodist 8: The season's end is meriful to the once proud but battered Mustangs.

The others:

Colorado 22, Air Force 7; Miami (Fla.) 19, Florida 14; Boston College 14, Holy Cross 0; Oregon State 18, Houston 8; North Carolina 14, Virginia 7; Rice 25, Baylor 14; Texas Tech 19, West Texas State 10.

Minor Loops Hope To Curb Heavy Cost In Bonus Rule

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Baseball's minor leagues are expected to adopt a new version of a bonus rule Thursday, designed to curb the spending spree that cost club-owners a reported $12 million in 1961 as payments to untried youngsters.

If the minors adopt the proposed legislation at their final convention sessions, the majors probably will follow through on Saturday at Miami Beach. Seventeen of the 22 minor leagues must approve the adoption.

At least two amendments offered by the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants organization through minor league affiliates would alter the original proposal, drawn up by a six-man major league committee. The committee has the backing of Commissioner Ford C. Frick and George Trautman, president of the National (minors) Association.

To Do Something

"We have to do something to keep from committing suicide," said one high baseball official. "The clubs spent $12,000,000 on bonuses in 1961."

Opponents of the proposal point out that the draft of 15 first-year men and a steady increase in the total draft that numbered 35 for $680,000 by the majors indicated the present rules would work if given more time.

Previous bonus rules did not work because they could not be enforced. Basically, the committee's proposal would strengthen the existing first-year draft by which club's can lose their big bonus babies for only $12,000. It is designed to discourage the huge bonus by making more first-year men subject to the draft and at a lower cost.

As matters stand, a club can pay a bonus of any size to any player. After the boy's first season, he can be advanced to the big league roster until the 40-man limit is reached and thus made immune from the draft.

Frick's group would reduce the first-year draft price from $12,000 to $8,000. It would permit a big league club to farm out only one first-year man and he would count in the big league club's player limit. No other first-year man could be farmed out until all the other big league clubs had a chance to take him at the $8,000 waiver price. The players sent down after going through the waiver process could not be recalled until after the next draft.

The Dodger amendment would leave the draft price at $12,000 but would permit a team to farm out two first-year men.

Buffalo Happy With Joe Foss

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — As Joe Foss of the American football League "has done a job far as the owner of the Buffalo Bills is concerned, Commissioner above and beyond the call of duty" for the league.

Ralph C. Wilson Jr. made the remark at a Buffalo Atheltic Club dinner hoonring him as the city's sportsman of the year.

In a brief reference to the current feud between Foss and Harry Wismer, owner of the New York franchise, Wilson said, "As far as I'm concerned you can't knock a Medal of Honor winner."

Czechs Qualify

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Czechoslovakia defeated Scotland, 4-2, in overtime Wednesday and became the 15th team to qualify for the World Soccer Championships in Chile next year. The two teams were deadlocked after their home-and-home games.

Unofficial Total Of 17 Bears Killed In County

FIVE MORE BEARS were reported killed yesterday in Monroe County to run the three days to an unofficial total of 17.

Eight of the bruins were reported killed on Monday, the opening day. The season will end this Saturday.

Yesterday, Les Woodling, of Reeders bagged a 300-lb. bear at Brushy Mountain, near the East Stroudsburg Reservoir at 9:30 a.m. The animal was a black male.

Hunting with Woodling were Paul Edinger, Stroudsburg RD 5; Verdon Rustine and Paul Woodling, both of Reeders.

At 10 a.m., William Altemose of Gilbert, brought down one near the James Murphy Farm at Kunkletown RD 1.

Wash (One Shot) Ware of Stroudsburg RD, shot a 336 pound male bruin near Camp Tamiment yesterday morning about 11:30.

Ware, a commander in the U. S. Navy, is on leave from his Jacksonville, Fla. base.

With Ware on the hunting trip were his wife, Mrs. Betty Ware, Boyd Weiss Jr., Jane Albrecht, Sonny Albrecht, and "Spike" Halterman.

Two Others

John Spencer, Mount Pocono area game protector reported that William Leonard, of Tobyhanna, killed a male bruin on the state game lands in Coolbaugh Twp. The bear weighed 340 pounds.

He also reported a catch by Emanuel Keiper, of Tobyhanna who shot an 185 pound female bear.

The biggest bear killed thus far was reported on Monday. It weighed 400 pounds and was shot by Joseph W. Shosh of Bethlehem in Tunkhannock Twp.

Team Will Meet

THE Saylorsburg baseball team of the Pocono League will hold their reorganization meeting tonight at the Lily Pond Lodge. The session will begin at 7:45 p.m. The public is invited.

Minor League Teams Select New Pilots

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Bill Adair, veteran minor league manager, was named pilot of the 1962 Louisville club of the American Association Wednesday.

Adair succeeds Ben Geraghty, who will manage the Jacksonville club of the International League in 1962. Louisville is a farm club of the Milwaukee Braves. Adair managed Austin of the Texas League last year.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Don Heffner, former major league infielder, was named manager of the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League Wednesday.

Heffner, a second baseman with the New York Yankees and St. Louis Browns, was a coach with the Detroit Tigers last year and with the Kansas City Athletics for three years before that.

At San Diego, he succeeds Bill Norman who is returning to the Chicago White Sox as a scout.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Frank Lucchesi, the Southern association's manager of the year in 1961 for leading Chattanooga to the pennant, has been rehired by the Chattanooga Lookouts for next season, Joe Engel, club president said Wednesday.

Lucchesi brought the Lookouts from eighth in 1960 to the top last season. It was his second straight pennant in the Philadelphia farm system. He won at Williamsport in the Eastern League in 1960.

Boxing Promoter Seeking Brown

LONDON (AP) — Boxing promoter Harry Levene is after world lightweight champion Joe Brown for a third fight with Dave Charnley.

"Brown has beaten Charnley twice, but he wouldn't beat him a third time," Levene said.

"I am offering him $49,000 for another fight with Charnley in London next March."

Charnley, 26 - year - old British and European champion, boosted his prospects for a third crack at Brown by knocking out Langston C. Morgan of Youngstown, Ohio, in the third round at Manchester Monday night.

NFL Statistics Disclose Colts Are Top In Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — The Baltimore Colts may not have much to show in the victory column but they've taken over first place in team defense in the National Football League.

The Eastern Conference leading New York Giants, who have led the league in team defense most of the season, tumbled to second, the NFL's weekly statistical report showed Wednesday.

Baltimore, with a 6-5 record, has held its 11 foes to 2,733 yards, including 1,446 yards rushing and 1,287 passing. The Giants have yielded 2,925 yards and the Detroit Lions, in third, 3,009.

The Colts' surge past the Giants in the scramble for team defense honors came Sunday during Baltimore's 27-6 triumph over the Washington Redskins and New York's 37-21 conquest of the Cleveland Browns.

Replace Giants

Baltimore, likewise, replaced the Giants as leaders in pass completion percentage by the opposi-completed 46.7 per cent.

Philadelphia's Eagles, who trail the Giants by one game in the race for the Eastern championship, remained at the top in team offense. The Eagles have collected a total of 3,888 yards with 2,688 on passing and 1,200 on rushing. San Francisco has 3,844 and Baltimore 3,787.

Green Bay and San Francisco both jumped ahead of Cleveland as the league's best rushing outfit. The Packers, with a commanding 2½-game advantage in the Western conference, have picked up 1,804 yards rushing as compared with 1,791 by San Francisco and 1,751 by Cleveland.

Salvation Army Office Clearing Site

THE LOCAL Salvation Army office at 78 S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, will act as a clearing house for clearing names and to avoid duplication in the distribution of Christmas baskets and other help given by groups and individuals during the Christmas season.

A food order check will replace the gift of a ready packed food basket at the local Salvation Army as has been the custom for the past number of years.

Families needing assistance and who qualify for a food order check must make a request through the mail for such help.

In past years families went to the office and filled out an application, with the new system, families are requested not to go to the officer or make phone calls but rather send a letter or postcard, stating their need for aid, giving the names and ages of each one in the family and the amount and source of their income.

Appointment Card

When the name has been cleared and the family qualifies for a check, due to insufficient income or other reasons that they might need additional assistance for the Christmas season, they will receive an appointment card entitling them to get a food order check and an order for toys at the Army's toy shop.

Checks and toys will be distributed on Thursday and Friday, Dec. 21 and 22.

Families are urged to make application through the mail before Dec. 15, which has been set as a dead line for receiving applications so that each request can be processed and the appointment card sent back to the family.

With the Christmas mail rush it is necessary to have a week before time of distribution to complete mailing out the cards.

PP&L Sold $30 Million Of Bonds

PENNSYLVANIA Power and Light Company has sold $30 million of 30-year, first mortgage bonds bearing interest at the rate of 4⅝ percent, it was announced yesterday by Chas. E. Oakes, the utility's Board Chairman and Chief Executive officer.

The bonds, which were sold on the basis of competitive bids, were purchased by an underwriting group headed by White, Weld & Company and Kidder, Peabody and Co. on a bid of 100.571 percent, representing net interest cost to the local utility of approximately 4.59 percent. The successful bidders will reoffer the bonds to the public at 101.22 percent to yield 4.55 percent.

The successful bid was accepted by the utility board of directors at the regular meeting in the Allentown Office.

To Be Added

Net proceeds from the sale of bonds will be initially added to the Company's general funds and subsequently applied toward the retirement of $30 million of short-term bank loans incurred to meet construction expenditures and to retire certain long-term promissory notes.

At the same meeting the board of directors also increased the regular quarterly dividends on the Company's Common Stock from 31.25 cents to 33 cents per share payable January to 1962 to shareowners of record December 8, 1961. The increase will mean dividends declared for the year 1961 will be $1.27 as compared with $1.25 for the previous year.

Farmers Urged Not To Feud

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania farm organizations should spend less time feuding among themselves and instead unite to accomplish common goals, the deputy state agriculture secretary declared Wednesday.

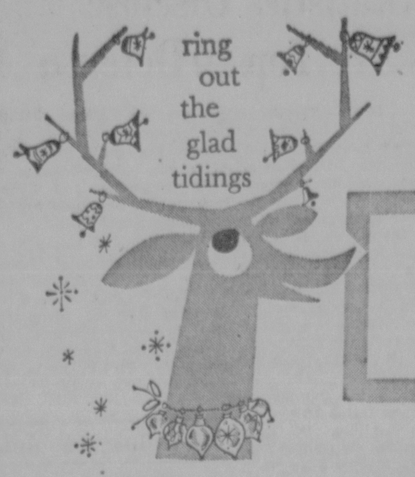

D. Richard Wenner made the statement in remarks prepared for the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association. He advocated a farm organization policy of "turning organization vigor to common problems rather than fighting among themselves."

Employment Jumps In State

HARRISBURG (AP)—Total employment in Pennsylvania jumped last month to its highest level since August 1960, the Department of Labor and Industry reported Wednesday.

Department Secretary A. Allen Sulcowe said the mid-October figure of 4,317,300 was more than 8,000 above that of a year ago, marking th first time in the past 12 months total employment was higher than it had been a year previously.

Illness Delays Conference

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has been forced by illness to postpone until Dec. 9 a conference in Paris with French President Charles de Gaulle on the pressing problems of Berlin and Germany, the federal press office announced yesterday.

The 85-year-old chancellor had been scheduled to talk with De Gaulle Thursday, but a case of grippe picked up in Washington last week during conferences with President Kennedy forced the postponement.

Shawnee Choir Top Feature At State Music Conference

SHAWNEE Choir, a volunteer group of Monroe County singers that has had an enormous impact upon the world of choral music, has been selected as one of the major attractions at the 28th annual conference of the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association.

The conference will be held in Harrisburg Nov. 30 to Dec. 2, with approximately 800 of the state's music teachers expected to attend. The appearance of the Choir has been scheduled Dec. 1.

Organized in 1955 by Shawnee Press for the specific purpose of making reference recordings, the choir has produced 14 long-play high-fidelity albums containing 273 choral selections, the largest recorded library of its kind in the world.

The 29 singers in the group comprise a cross-section of Pocono area residents. They meet regularly one night a week as an "after-hours" activity.

Since its organization the choir has been under the direction of Dr. Earl Willhoite. With a broad background in music and education, Willhoite is educational director of Shawnee Press. He served nine years with the Fred Waring Music Workshop and was one of the founders of the American Choial Directors Association.

Other Groups To Join

During the three-day music educators' conference, the choir will be joined by a number of other talented Pennsylvania music groups. Among them are the Lehigh University Band and the Taylor Allderdice String Orchestra. Numerous panel discussions and special clinics will present to the teachers new concepts and techniques in music education.

The conference will end Dec. 2 with the colorful Parade of Bands, a traditional and popular event in which some 30 Pennsylvania school bands will take part.

Shawnee Choir was organized in 1955 for the purpose of recording Shawnee Press publications. In that year 23 volunteer choristers recorded 18 anthems which were released in an LP album titled "Sing Unto The Lord" and made available as a Shawnee Press reference recording to church and school directors of choral music.

30 Active Members

The choir has continued its unique recording activity, has expanded to 30 active members and at present has one member on sabbatical leave. Due to inevitable schedule conflicts, family obligations, illnesses, out-of-town travel, etc., the average attendance for weekly recording sessions is 24. The 31 singers enjoy singing and the challenge of recording choral music, have been singing "all Their lives" and represent an interesting cross section of Pennsylvania since 22 were born in Pennsylvania and all, either presently or in the past, have resided in the Keystone state.

In the choir are nine teachers, a telephone operator, three secretaries, a radio commentator, a chief clerk of a selective service board, three organist-choir directors, three full-time housewives, a minister, two department store managers, a laboratory technician engaged in the production of vaccines, four individuals in various phases of the music publishing business, a purchasing agent for a manufacturing concern, an insurance adjuster and the manager of a bakery and grocery store. With each member the Shawnee Choir is an "after work" activity.

All of the Shawnee choristers graduated from high school, and 17 have attended college. They have accumulated 13 baccalaureate and 3 masters degrees, and 7 have graduated credits listed on their college transcripts.

Nineteen have studied piano for a varying number of years ranging from 1 to 15, and 21 have studied voice from 1 to 35 years. Seven have played in bands and orchestras and play 12 instruments other than the piano. All of the members either direct or sing with at least one choral group—church choir, community chorus, etc.—other than the Shawnee Choir.

Music, Music

The list of their hobbies covers the entire gamut with MUSIC, and singing in particular, being the common thread running through their lives and binding them together. In naming his hobbies, one baritone emphasized music, music, music! This seems to be a universal posture with the Shawnee Choir.

Obviously the teachers and directors who taught them and worked with them in elementary and high schools, in ensembles, opera productions, the armed forces, college choirs, variety shows, SPEBSQSA, dance bands, Bach choirs and girls glee clubs gave them more than skills and instilled in them a love of music and a desire to make music an integral and continuing part of their lives.

Sopranos — Beatrice Anthony, Sally Ferrebee, Gertude, Hippler, Jocelyn Lantz, Janice Mosteller, Beatrice Raymond, Ann Spencer, Ellen Thompson, Jean Ann Wolbert.

Altos— Caroline Denham Jeanne Gurr, Ann Kauffman, Beulah McConnell, Doris Salathe, Ruth Sibley, Norma Treible, Leona Willhoite.

Tenors—James Anthony, Robert Currier, Robert Hartman, Clyde Kauffman, Shimer Kublic, William Thompson, Robert Wolbert.

Basses—Howard Atwell Robert Kranendonk, Ralph Potts, John Smith Lewis Tyreman, Don Whitaker, Peter Wyckoff.

Richard Lindroth, is accompanist. Ernest Farmer, Kenneth Lee and Robert Knupp, audio. Earl Willhoite is musical director.

Copper Filaments Still Orbiting

LEXINGTON, Mass. (AP)—A powerful American satellite-tracking radar has picked up evidence that 350 million tiny copper filaments sent aloft Oct. 21 are still orbiting in a package—instead of a cloud.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology Lincoln Laboratory said it is carrying out calculations and experiments as to why the copper hairs seemingly have not been released.

The purpose of what is called Project West Ford experiment was to spread a band of the tiny needles in a 2,100-mile orbit 2,100 miles above the earth. The fine wires were to have formed a thick cloud about five miles wide and 25 miles deep.

The announcement said the Millstone Hill radar, at Westford, Mass., has picked up contacts on three occasions—Nov. 3, Nov. 15 and Nov. 22 with what may be the package—only 6 inches in diameter and 17 inches long, as it passed about 2,000 miles overhead.

Packer's Stock On Exchange

NEW YORK (AP) — Packer's Super Markets, Inc. became the one thousandth stock admitted for trading on the American Stock Exchange Wednesday.

Packer's was the 98th new issue approved for listing this year. Through all of last year 110 new issues were added, a 25-year high.

The exchange has had under 1,000 listed issues since 1941, when 1,023 issues were available for trading. In the last 20 years the number dropped as low as 767 in 1950.

Blue Chips Vs. Glamour

By William A. Doyle

Q. A friend of mine is completely sold on the so-called "glamour stocks," such as electronics. He thinks the very high price-earnings ratios of these stocks are only normal. He says that such stocks as International Business Machines and American Telephone & Telegraph were once in that category and have since come through in a big way.

Did these two "blue chip stocks" ever sell at very high price-earnings ratios?

A. Of course they did. And they still do.

The price-earnings ratio of a stock is the ratio between its market price and its earnings reported for the latest 12 months.

It's an old story for IBM to sell at a high price-earnings ratio. Investors historically have been willing to pay high prices for "growth stocks." IBM has shown such fantastic growth (particularly in earnings) that the demand for this stock has been strong. The result has been a high market price and a high price-earnings ratio.

AT&T has a somewhat different history. Until three years ago, this was considered to be perhaps the most conservative of all stocks. It paid a steady dividend and showed little change in price or earnings ratio. Many wise guys sneered at it as "the old lady's stock."

Then things changed. AT&T stock was split. The dividend has been increased twice. Earnings have shown a healthy upward trend. More people became interested. The market price of the stock has been bid up—resulting in a high price-earnings ratio.

AT&T has sold above $130 a share recently. It is estimated that earnings per share of about $5.60 will be reported for 1961—for a price-earnings ratio of better than 23-to-one. That's well below IBM's price-earnings ratio but still well above AT&T's previous price-earnings ratios.

These are high-quality stocks of huge companies, with established records. The so-called "glamour stocks" of lesser-known companies, which show sudden surges of popularity, are different kettle of fish. Some of them will undoubtedly do well. Some will not. It's a cinch that they won't all pay off for their stockholders.

Q. You were wrong in your answer to the grandfather who bought stock for his grandchild and who had the stock registered in "(the grandfather's name), as custodian for (the child's name), a minor, under the gift to minors' law, etc." You said that stock registered that way will not be part of the grandfather's estate, for Federal estate tax purposes, if the grandfather dies.

It most certainly will be. Haven't you heard about Revenue Ruling 57-366?

A. I have now. That ruling of the Internal Revenue Service has been brought to my attention by you and many other readers. Sorry!

Under that ruling, when a donor (the grandfather in this case) makes a gift of stocks or other property to a minor child and names himself as custodian, the value of the property is considered part of the donors' estate (for Federal estate tax purposes) if the donor dies before the minor reaches 21.

I don't like to throw rocks at the revenooers. But that ruling seems mighty weird. After all, once stock is registered as described above, it is an "irrevocable gift." The stock then belongs to neither the donor nor the custodian. It belongs to the child. But, to appease the IRS, the solution is to name someone else as the custodian.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Israel VIP To Speak At ESSC

ZVI ZINDER, public affairs adviser to the Prime Minister of Israel, has been invited to speak to a student-faculty assembly at the East Stroudsburg State College, Friday, by college president Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler.

Zinder, who was born in Monongahela, Pa., has had a long career in journalism in the Middle East, beginning with the position of night editor of The Palestine Post, the English language daily in Israel. During the '30's he covered Palestine, Syria and Lebanon for the Associated Press, and later was Middle East war correspondent for Time and Life magazines.

Served As Director

Later, he served as director of the Israel Broadcasting Service and helped establish the country's modern broadcasting network. He was a member of the first embassy of Israel in Washington, D. C., and in the latter part of 1960 he assumed his present post of Adviser on Public Affairs to Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion.

Dr. Koehler announces that "This is the first program in our college's foreign culture series featuring Israel, East Africa and South Africa, and it should be a most informative one."

More Than $16 Million In Pacts

NEW YORK (AP)—Avco Corp. said its electronics and ordnance division received more than $16 million in contracts for highly classified work. The work, which includes engineering as well as production, is being done at the division's Richmond, Ind. plant.

Easter Egg Sells For $30,800

LONDON (AP)—An opalescent pale green enameled Easter egg was sold at Sotheby's Auction Rooms yesterday for 11,000 pounds —$30,800.

The egg, slightly more than three inches from end to end, was ornamented with gold, by the French goldsmith Peter Carl Faberge in 1916.

He was commissioned to make it by Czar Nicholas II, as an Easter present to the Dowager Empress Marie Feodorovna. The Russian royal family made a practice of exchanging ornamental Easter eggs, and the one sold today was the last of a long line. A year after it was made the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917 ended the royal house.

The egg was sent for sale by Prince Basili Romanov. The buyer was Thomas Lumley, a London silversmith.

$400 Million U. S. Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—A government contract for the major role in designing and building the Apollo spacecraft, due to go to North American Aviation, may be worth $400 million in its initial phase, it was estimated. Space experts gussed the contract would amount to $1 or $2 billion over the next five years.

Only Winnie's Left

FALMOUTH, England (AP)—Sir Hugh Bateman Protheroe-Smith, 89, died yesterday leaving Sir Winston Churchill as the last living officer of the 21st Lancers, who made the historic charge at Omdurman in Sudan in 1898.

Seventy were killed or wounded when the Lancers charged against the Fuzzie-Wuzzies led by the Mahdi, a Sudanese religious leader who revolted against the British.

SS Parley Resumes Tonight

THE Monroe County Sunday School Convention holds its second session tonight at 6 o'clock. At this time representatives and delegates of the Sunday schools of the county will meet for the annual Fellowship dinner and business meeting.

Dale H. Learn will preside at this session and will give recognition and awards for distinguished Sunday School service.

The general meeting in the church auditorium will convene at 8 p. m. The song service will be under the leadership of the president.

Devotions will be led by Rev. Wesley Crowthers, pastor of the Shawnee Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Edward H. Stady, convention speaker, will deliver the message on the subject of "Responsibilities Fulfilled."

Special music will be provided by a male quartet from the Middle Smithfield Presbyterian Church.

Local People Panelists On 'Impact'

PASTOR Bruce J. Fox announced local community leaders who will appear as panelists on the opening "Impact" lyceum series for Friday and Saturday, Dec. 1 and 2 at the Stroudsburg Adventist School.

Friday, Dec. 1 — Panelists, Earl Groner, Stroud Union School Superintendent; Dale Learn, E. Stroudsburg realtor; Joe Small, Stroudsburg Mayor-elect, and Henry McCool, Monroe County probation officer.

Saturday, Dec. 2 — Pastor Thomas Shoesmith, retired Episcopal minister will offer the invocation. Panelist: Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, President East Stroudsburg State College; James Marsh, district attorney of Monroe County; Richard Frantz, Stroudsburg businessman.

Both programs will begin at 7:30 p. m. and according to Pastor Fox each panel member will be given a few minutes to speak before the panel sits under the moderation of Dr. Winton Beaven, director of Institute of Scientific Studies for the Prevention of Alcoholism, who will come from Washington, D. C.

The topics under discussion Friday will be "Youth and Alcohol—The Explosive Generation." Saturday's topic will be "Alcohol and Traffic—One for the Road."

The "Impact" Series is a community service sponsored by Seventh-day Adventists in the interest of community betterment through an inspired and informed public.

A welcome is extended to all.

Montgomery County To Back Fetterolf

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Bulletin said Wednesday Montgomery County's state representatives have decided to back Rep. Morton H. Fetterolf Jr. for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

The move, said the Bulletin, was seen as a slap that announced candidacy for the GOP nomination for governor of Elkins Wetherill, chairman of the Montgomery County commissioners.

Fetterolf, 49, and other Montgomery County GOP legislators, called on James E. Staudinger, the county GOP chairman, last Friday to inform him of the decision to back Fetterolf.

Staudinger said he met with the country's Republican legislators, but that "nothing definite had been determined."

Police Agents Killed In Raids

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Two police agents were killed Wednesday in raids on various Communist party headquarters.

President Romulo Betancourt's government ordered Communist headquarters closed in a crackdown on leftists. The government broke relations with Cuba earlier this month.

A spokesman said someone threw a hand grenade at police in one raid on headquarters in the Cementerio section of the outskirts of Caracas, killing the two raiders and wounding four others. The grenade throwers escaped.

The spokesman declined to say how many were arrested in raids in various parts of the city.

Steel Output Seen Going Up

NEW YORK (AP)—An official of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. predicted that 1962 steel ingot production would top this year's 98 million tons.

Speaking at a University of Pittsburgh conference, Walter Moore, director of commercial research for the company, estimated production will reach 105 to 115 million tons next year.

SPECIAL NOTICE!

We've had a lot of laughs during the past few weeks in looking at some of the toy advertisements appearing in the local papers. Some people scream "Don't buy there because", others yell "We'll meet anyone's price!", still others advertise at ridiculous prices and don't have the goods when you get there.

We won't tell you where not to buy your toys. We won't tell you that it's not possible for another merchant to "shop" our store and then reduce his prices. But we will tell you this: Our toy department is discounted from manufacturer's list at least 25% on each and every item. Another group of items is discounted close to 50%. And still some are discounted even more! What we advertise you will get. If it is sold out we will give you a Food Basket Courtesy Certificate enabling you to purchase the item later at the advertised price. Our variety and display is the biggest ever seen in the Easton - Phillipsburg area, and nobody, but nobody, ever wished for you and your family to have a more merry Christmas season than Food Basket, with its low, low prices, that there may be more for all!

Feeding Trees For Winter

By George Abraham

Feed Your Trees: Fall and winter are fine times to feed your shade trees, the most neglected plants around your homes. Punching holes 12 inches to 18 inches deep and in a circle beneath the tree is a commonway to feed. The holes are filled with a liquid or chemical plant food.

Another way to do the job is to broadcast the commercial plant food beneath the tree. That's the way commercial apple growers do the job. They never punch holes in the soil to feed, and their method seems to work out just as well as if they took the trouble to punch holes into the soil.

Feeding shade trees might be one way to lick the "mystery blight" among our ailing maples. While no one seems to know just what is causing this blight among our street maples, oaks, birches and other trees, one theory is that it's due to a gradual weakening of trees as a result of a lower water table and a higher average temperature, factors which affect soil fertility and aeration. Feeding such trees helps to increase vigor. You should also have the dead wood pruned out and care for by capable tree men.

Angel Wing Begonias: Many gardeners have a devil of a time growing Angel wing begonia, especially during the winter months. Shedding of foliage and blossoms are complaints we receive. This is due to a poor soil. All begonias like a loose, well drained, humusy soil.

A mix of one-third sand, one-third peat and one-tihrd loam is dandy, or you can even step up the humus content. A lack of light, too dry a room, low temperature and insufficient soil moisture are other factors which cause dropping of buds and leaves. Most begonias like a temperature of 55 to 60 degs., and away from direct sun. Leaking gas fumes may cause buds to drop.

My Green Thumb Thanks: My thanks to all gardeners whose many questions have stimulated my writing of the Green Thumb Garden Handbook. After 3 years of writing, the handbook is now off the press, and we hope it will be your guide to better gardening. Your part in producing the book has been great. Anyone interested in ordering a copy (autographed) for your Green Thumb Library may write to me.

Hardwood vs. Softwood: To settle a family argument, I've been asked to explain the difference between the terms "hardwood" and "softwood". In forestry language, the terms have nothing to do with "hardness" or "softness". Trees that bear broad leaves which shed are called "hardwoods" and this group includes elm, oak, linden, poplar, ash, maple and many others.

"Softwoods" have needle-like leaves and are generally evergreen. They include pine, spruce, fir, cedar, hemlock, larch and redwood. Isn't it crazy to classify a softwooded tree such as poplar in the hardwooded group?

Cracking Nuts: This has been a good year for nuts. Did you know that you should husk black walnuts before the husk turns black, that is if you want a light-colored, you want a light - colored, high-quality meat. If only a small quantity of nuts are involved you can husk them easily by driving them through a hole in a board. If black walnuts are washed in water as soon as the husks are removed, the nuts will be more attractive when dried. Most black walnuts are effectively cracked by pressure from the ends.

Poorly developed kernels can be blamed on inadequate cross-polination. Shrunken kernels or poorly filled nuts can be due to too short a growing season or too little summer heat. Dry weather may be a cause for nuts failing to fill. Early drought reduces the size of the nuts, while a late drought prevents the kernels from maturing.

All nut trees need cross pollination. You should plant at least two varieties together for "rooster" effect. This year one of my Chinese Chestnuts had a bushel of burrs and produced only a handful of mature nuts. The rest were "false" due to a lack of pollination.

Free: Want to know more about nut culture? Send me a self addressed, stamped envelope and ask for a copy of my brand new bulletin, "How to grow nuts at home." My guide is full of tips on all phases of nut culture, from selecting the best varieties to nut propagation. Be sure to send me a self-addressed, stamped enveloped for your copy.

Tree Of Heaven: A reader who planted an Ailanthus (Tree of Heaven) last spring writes: "It grew 15ft. tall with palm like branches. One morning last week I looked out the window and saw nothing but a bare tree. Is this natural or did someone pull them off?"

This is natural for Tree of Heaven. After a hard freeze the leaves drop and the tree looks like a walking stick. Ailanthus should be grown only as a last resort, when nothing else will grow. Don't be misled this spring when high pressure advertisements start tooting about the value of this weedy tree.

Rose Cuttings: Many of my readers made a small "greenhouse" out of a gallon jug by cutting the bottom out, following suggestions given here a few weeks back. This consisted of dipping a string in gasoline and wrapping it around the base of the jug, and lighting the cord.

This heats the jug in a line around the bottom, then you dip the base in a tub of cold water. The bottom falls out slick as a whistle and you have a small glass house for rooting roses. Now, the question has been asked, "Should you leave the glass over the rose cuttings all winter, and should the top be left on?"

Yes, leave the glass jug on the cuttings all winter, and also leave a cork or cap on top. When spring comes you can remove the cork for ventilation. Incidentally, winter's a fine time to make up a few bottomless jugs for starting lots of woody cuttings next spring and summer. Start saving the jugs now, if you're interested in starting new roses and other shrubs next year.

Question Box

By George Abraham

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D. R. of Stroudsburg: "Please tell me what to do for our Mugo pine. Each tip has a hard covering as if it were parafined or coated with sugar syrup. Is it serious?"

This sounds like die-back or tip-blight of pines, caused by fungi. The new growth is stunted, the needles turn brownish, and the terminal buds exude an excessive amount of resin which resembles paraffin or the hardened sugar syrup.

Control: It's rather difficult. Try pruning the needles back to sound tissues and be sure to burn the clippings. Do your pruning when the branches are dry since there is less danger of spreading the disease spores. Also, spray the branches with copper or Captain at least three times in the spring of the year. First, as soon as the new growth ("Candles") start, again when candles are half-grown and the third spray about 2 weeks later.

K. L. of Scotrun: "I still don't don't know what to do for climbing Blaze roses for winter. Some say to take the canes down from the trellis, and some say to leave them alone. Do the canes have to be protected?"

Climbing roses are hardier than Tea Roses, and not many gardeners take the time or trouble to protect them since they usually come through the winter without much care. Quite often some canes will blacken from winter but these can be trimmed off in spring.

It's a nuisance to take a climber down from a trellis and for that reason most of us are content to let the canes go through without any care. They seem to stand the rigors of most winters.

G. N. of Delaware Water Gap: "I had red and yellow mums last year. These were planted again in spring of 1961 and this fall the red mums had turned to pink. Even my yellow mums turned to white ones. How did that happen?"

We get this question often. Actually, the mums do not change color. The weaker types die out, leaving the stronger ones to outmultiply and take over. Sometimes you do get a "sport" or mutation, giving rise to an entirely new type of color and blossom, but this does not happen frequently.

It's a case of survival of the fittest. Your weaker varieties died out due to cold, or disease, and the strongest types carried on. You propagated more of the strongest varieties, and this accounts for prepondenance of other colors.

The same thing happens to glads, dahlias and other ornamental crops.

Free: Want to know more about color changes among plants? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for a copy of my bulletin, "Why Plants Change Colors." My guide tells you what happens and how you can cope with this baffling problem.

Geneva Faculty Members Die

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two former Geneva College faculty members, husband and wife, died Tuesday within hours of each other.

The Rev. Dr. John Coleman, 79, professor emeritus, died of pneumonia in the morning at Bryn Mawr Hospital in Philadelphia. His wife, the former Mary Grier Willson, who had taught at Geneva for a number of years, died of a stroke at night.

They resided at Drexel Hill.

Dr. Coleman formerly was chairman of the department of political science and sociology. He had been a faculty member at Geneva for 34 years before his retirement in 1952.

Double funeral services will be held at Drexel Hill Thursday.

TV Highlights

"THE ENCHANTED Nutcracker," a musical fantasy adapted from Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite," airs on ABC Saturday, December 23, with Carol Lawrence, Robert Goulet and Pierre Olaf starring in the Christmas show. . . . "Our Five Daughters," a half-hour daytime soap opera, makes its debut on NBC Tuesday, Jan. 2, as a replacement for "From These Roots," the format revolving around Jim and Helen Lee and their five daughters, ranging in age from 16 to 27.

Larry Pennell and Ken Curtis co-star on the "Ripcord" adventure at 7 tonight on Chs. 3 and 4, when a lumberman hires them to fly in some nitroglycerine to help break a log jam. . . . David and June Nelson invite Rick to dinner and tell him he is welcome to bring a date, but he should have known better than to bring one of David's old girl friends on "The Adventure of Ozzie and Harriet" at 7:30 p. m. on Chs. 6 and 7.

On "The Donna Reed Show" at 8 p. m. on Chs. 6 and 7, the Stone household goes wild when Alex teaches a class in adolescent psychology and decides to put his theories to practice at home. . . . Richard Chamberlain and Raymond Massey, as Dr. Kildaire and Dr. Gillespie, try to make a devoted wife face the fact that her stricken husband's coma may last indefinitely on the "Dr. Kildaire" series at 8:30 p. m. on Chs. 3 and 4.

Walter Brennan, as Grandpa Amos McCoy, takes a job selling hardware and shows how to convert big sales into little sales on "The Real McCoys" at 8:30 p. m. on Chs. 6 and 7, co-starring Richard Crenna and Kathy Nolan. . . . Jane Wyman portrays a shy waitress who is used as a lure to trap a killer when she guests with stars James Franciscus and James Philbrook on "The Investigator" at 9 p. m. on Chs. 2 and 10.

Stanley Livingston, as Chip Douglas, has to write a school essay on "What My Mother Means to Me," but since there are no women in the Douglas household, he goes to his friends' homes to gather material on "My Three Sons," starring Fred MacMurray with William Frawley, Tim Considine and Don Grady at 9 p. m. on Chs. 6 and 7. . . . Julie Harris and James Donald head the cast of "Victoria Regina," the "Hall of Fame" presentation at 9:30 p. m. on Chs. 3 and 4.

Eddie Foy, Jr., guest stars as a talent agent who books Margie's band for an engagement in a "select" club on "Margie," comedy series starring Cynthia Pepper, at 9:30 p. m. on Chs. 6 and 7. . . . John Raitt and Polly Bergen are among the guests who appear on "Yves Montand on Broadway," a variety special at 10 p. m. on Chs. 6 and 7. . . . Jim Leaming shows filmed highlights of last week's pro football games on "NFL Highlights" at 10:30 p. m. on Ch. 11.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

THURSDAY, NOV. 30, 1961

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—The better the deed, the better the day is still potent. Freeze out ill will and going over mistakes to find further fault, which tempts now. Keep facts straight, theories, too.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Hold mind on immediate duties, chores, and whatever other activity and plans that could benefit laudable interests, bring about surer results. No day for careless forgetting.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Strong favorable Mercury aspect overshadows less propitious features of today. You should be able to keep matters in balance, achieving at least moderate returns for sturdy endeavor.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—The undeveloped and unenlightened will have to alter such conditions to be able to profit from any opportunity and efforts. Tend regular business and duties assiduously; TACT.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—The variety of affairs and issues favored should enthuse you and your varied talents. So many ways to improve, make things work purposefully, accurately. Just don't laugh at sound warnings.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Not many planets in as auspiciously fine configuration as yours today, but remember that thus YOU may be succeeding and others not (at least as well), which calls for tact, understanding, modesty.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Give as generously as you can to needy corners, we always feel better, do better afterwards. Sharing is a wonder-worker, and getting heads together means more ideas, results.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Suggestions under day's less auspicious planetary aspects: Deliberate well before changes, calculate all possibilities before widespread action, removals, denials. Don't try what might be injudicious.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—"A long time" may be actually short by many standards. Go about what you should in unbiased, discerning fashion. Take new things with reasonable attitude. Better-than-fair aspects.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Where you have another's confidence, plus your own affairs that need protecting, keep your counsel and be adamant against imposters. Recognize, remember what you owe to others, too.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—When you should speak, do so, do not turn to a chore or other activity if straightening out a misunderstanding is in order. Day favors creativeness, also old matters well tended.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Writings, designing, statesmanship, all issues requiring diplomacy and accuracy especially ask prudence, common sense. Be reasonably flexible, but not shaky. Think, study, consult.

YOU BORN TODAY have a multitude of aptitudes and assets for a happy, rewarding life. Usually you of this sector make healthy use of your God-given versatility and ability to get at the heart of success quickly. You have know-how, even in unknown places and with new people. Are keen about what you do, so you create interest in others, promote more stimulus all around. Being self-reliant and stably ambitious, you can plow through difficult tasks others would hesitate to try. Keep strong your healthy attitude and give that bright spark to companionship you so effectively ctn. Birthdate of: Jonathan Swift, Irish satirist; Mark Twain (S. L. Clemens), American wit, author; Sir Winston Churchill, British statesman, author, artist; Sir Philip Sidney, poet, statesman, soldier.

Weather Outlook

Extended Forecasts for Nov. 30 through Dec. 4:

Eastern Pennsylvania, southeastern New York and New Jersey—Temperatures are expected to average 3 to 8 degrees below normal. Cold Thursday, somewhat milder early Friday, turning quite cold over the weekend, milder Monday. Precipitation may total about one-tenth of an inch, occurring as scattered snow flurries or showers about Friday. Scattered snow flurries Saturday and scattered snow flurries or showers again about Monday.

Middle Atlantic states — Temperatures will average 5 to 8 degrees below normal. Somewhat warmer Thursday, colder Friday and Saturday, warmer Monday. Little or no precipitation.

Western Pennsylvania — Temperatures will average 4 to 8 degrees below normal. Normal highs are 40 to 42 and normal lows 27 to 29. Warmer Thursday and then turning colder Friday, a little warmer Sunday. Cold again about Monday. Precipitation will average around ¼ inch in the south and about ½ inch in the north melted, occurring as snow flurries Friday and Saturday and again about Monday.

Western New York — Temperatures will average 4 to 8 degrees below normal. Normal highs are 37 to 42 and normal lows 24 to 27. Not so cold Thursday but colder Friday and Saturday. A little warmer Sunday but colder Monday. Precipitation will average ¼ to ½ inch melted, occurring as frequent periods of snow flurries and some local snow squalls near the Great Lakes.

Look At Home Problems Urged

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—U.S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said Wednesday the United States must not let international crises cause it to neglect domestic welfare problems.

He said he was in full agreement with President Kennedy over the need for a balanced federal budget in the next fiscal year. But, he said, this can be done and spending increased as well in the fields of education, medical care under social security and public works projects.

The way to do it, continued the senator, is by raising additional revenues through "needed tax reforms, by closing inequitavle tax loopholes, by alterations to imbalances in postal rates, however unpopular these measures may be to one group or another."

He spoke before a group of retired members of the United Steelworkers Union.

Federal Judge Is Sworn In

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Louis Rosenberg, 63, will be sworn in Friday as a federal judge for Western Pennsylvania.

Chief Judge Wallace S. Gourley of U.S. District Court will administer the oath in his courtroom at noon.

Rosenberg, who has served as Pittsburgh safety director since 1956, was given a recess appointment to the life-time judgeship by President Kennedy last week.

The Senate will act on th appointment when it convenes in January. The post pays $22,500 a year.

Shareholders To Vote On Merger

NEW YORK (AP)—Shareholders of Dunhill International, Inc. will vote Dec. 14 on a proposal to merge with Pyramid Rubber Co. of Ravenna, Ohio.

The date of the special meeting was fixed by Ira Williams, president of Dunhill. Under the proposal approved by directors of both companies, stockholders of Pyramid and several associated companies would receive two million shares of Dunhill common in exchange for all their stock.

Low Bidder On Area School

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Public School Building Authority said Wednesday Frank Arieta of Nesquehoning was the apparent low bidder on proposed changes to the heating system at Mauch Chunk Twp. elementary school in Carbon County.

HEALTH CAPSULES

by Michael A. Petti, M.D.

CAN YOU HAVE REAL PAIN IN SOME PART OF THE BODY WHEN NOTHING IS WRONG WITH THAT PART?

YES. EMOTIONAL DISTURBANCES CAN PRODUCE REAL AND SEVERE PAIN. WHEN THE CAUSE OF THE EMOTIONAL DISTURBANCE IS TREATED, THE PAIN DISAPPEARS.

Health Capsules gives helpful information. It is not intended to be of a diagnostic nature.

CD Aides To Update Preparations

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania officials moved ahead Wednesday with plans to update civil defense preparations at state hospitals, prisons and other state institutions.

"We must find out if existing facilities at these institutions can meet federal requirements for fallout shelters," explained Dr. Richard Gerstell, state civil defense director.

The first concrete step along this line will be a meeting of mental institution directors from throughout the state on Dec. 13.

Both Gerstell and Arthur T. Prasse, commissioner of correction in the Justice Department, indicated that prisons seem to be in the best shape as far as fallout shelters are concerned.

Most of the state's prisons already have "natural" fallout shelters in the form of underground maintenance tunnels, Prasse noted.

However, he added, the prisoners would most likely be evacuated from the prison and transferred to a rural area remote from the fallout center.

"Actually, we're more concerned with how the prisoners can be used to help others," Prasse said. "We have civil defense teams in every prison—teams composed of 15 men well trained in first aid and evacuation procedures."

"Should we be attacked, our main efforts would be to regiment the prisoners into units to help save those in nearby communities," Prasse explained.

Lawrence Names Quinlan Judge

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence Wednesday appointed Daniel L. Quinlan Jr., a Norristown Democrat, to the Montgomery County Common Pleas Court.

He will serve until the first Monday of January, 1964.

Quinlan succeeds Republican F. Dannehower, who recently resigned as president judge.

See, feel, and hear the difference!

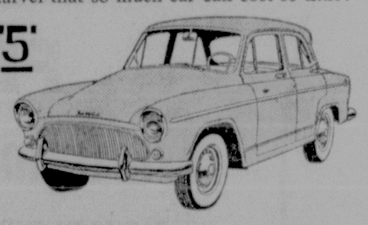

TAKE OUR NEW SIMCA '5' SHOWDOWN DRIVE!

There are 5 big differences between the sensational new Simca '5' and other good economy cars. Differences so dramatic that people are buying Simca '5' in preference to cars costing hundreds of dollars more!

Hard to believe? Sure. But a 5-minute Showdown Drive will convince you: Come in and drive a new Simca '5' just 5 minutes over any route you choose. Then do it again in a Volkswagen and a Renault. The big differences in smoothness, quietness, comfort, safety and luxury will make you forget all your old ideas about economy cars!

So before you decide, see, feel, hear the difference in Simca. You'll marvel that so much car can cost so little!

Thruway Will Ease Traffic Congestion In The Stroudsburgs

Part Of Interstate Rt. 80 And National Road Plan

WHERE does the Stroudsburg Bypass (Route 80) stand now?

The limited access, four-lane artery is part of the great coast-to-coast, border-to-border network of modern roads. It is part of the "National System of Interstate and Defense Highways" — a vast system (41,000 miles) which is scheduled for completion in a little more than 10 years.

The 2.6-mile section extending from the eastern end of East Stroudsburg to the western portions of Stroudsburg is just a small (in national comparison) portion of the Interstate Route 80.

With Route 80, a multi-billion dollar superhighway it will eventually provide a high-speed, limited access route from New York City clear across the country to San Francisco.

In addition to this, it is a significant step towards easing of traffic congestion in the Stroudsburgs and the Pocono Mountains.

The by-pass had been under construction for almost three years. The contract was awarded to J. H. Beers of Bangor, RD 2 on Dec. 30, 1958. Gov. David Lawrence dedicated the route in October.

In itself, the Stroudsburg By-pass is important. Coupled with the Route 80 line, it is vitally important.

It will remove from the business districts of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg much of the congested traffic flow—including truck traffic — which rolls heavily through the area.

But in the longer view, the thruway is most important as a vital link between this area, New York City and points northward. Its extension to the West Coast will aid those on cross-country trips immensely. The ride through Pennsylvania and the other states will provide a scenic cruise, free of city-jammed streets and other harassing delays.

The three sections of the thruway leading from the Delaware River Toll Bridge to the outskirts west of Stroudsburg will all be part of the nationwide system of interstate highways.

To localize the route somewhat, when current plans of the Pennsylvania Dept. of Highways are completed, Monroe County will have a network of highways spreading to the north, west, east and south.

The continuation of the Stroudsburg Thruway is already under way at Crescent Lake. At that point, it will continue west as the Keystone Shortway and north as the Penn-Can Highway, connecting at the Canadian border with that country's national road system.

In addition, it means a better route east. With the eventual widening of New Jersey's Route 46, the two connections will provide easy access to the New York City metropolitan area.

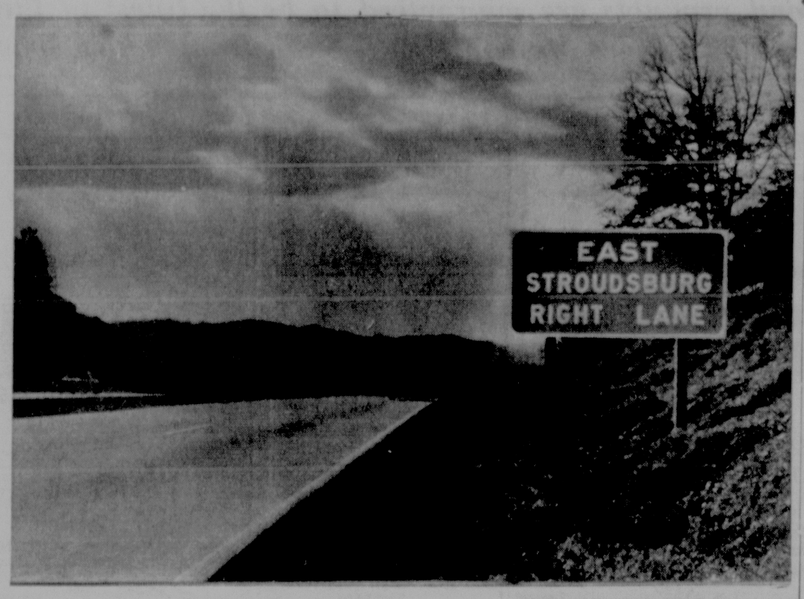

Where does it stand? What will it mean to this area. For one thing, more visitors to area resorts. For another, more industry desirous of locating near high speed traffic routes. For another, more summer homes for city-weary residents who still have to maintain their city contacts.

There are many reasons. Many that appear insignicicant but which provide a greater comfort for area motorists (and visitors) more unrestricted routes and most of all it will provide more safety for all motorists.

Those associated with J. H. Beers, Inc. for who took part in the bypass represented various construction concerns in and around the Pocono area.

They included Reed & Kuhn, Inc., bridge contractor of Elysburg; High Welding Co., structural steel contractor of Lancaster; Hauser & Lawson Co., inlet contractor, Tamaqua; Wyoming Valley Nursery, Inc., seeding contractor, Wyoming.

Also: Roland Tirocodia, masonry contractor of Madera; Webster & Webster, Inc., guard and right of way fence constructors of Wilkes-Barre; John Kokolis, painting contractor, Bethlehem; Phels Bros., clearing contractor, Sellersville; Diehl & Lick Co., bridge contractor, Lehighton; Policelli & Angelucci, white reflector curb contractor, Philadelphia; Collins & Maxwell Co., soil and cement contractor, Easton and Vibration Engineering Co., Hazleton.

PROSPECT ST. AHEAD — This sign for motorists traveling north on the Stroudsburg Thruway advises them that the next exit is to East Stroudsburg. It deposits them on Prospect St. and leads them to the borough's business district.

Allentown Okays Work

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A budget based partly on expected approval of a $10 "occupational privilege tax" on all who work in the city was considered Wednesday by Allentown city council.

The new tax is expected to raise about $500,000 next year for pay rises to city employes, other increased government costs, and toward construction of a new city hall.

The validity of such a tax, however, currently is being tested before the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in a Johnstown case. The latter tax differs from one proposed in Allentown in that it would apply only to non-residents working in the city.

STROUDSBURG EXIT — Northbound motorists on Stroudsburgs Thruway are confronted with this sign as they approach the W. Main St. exit of the newly opened highway.

Tie-In Rt. 78 In N. Jersey

TRENTON, N. J.—The State Highway Dept. has received a new federal go-ahead for its alignment of Route 78, which will run from the Holland Tunnel to the Delaware River at Phillipsburg, N. J., through Hillside and the Weequahic Section of Newark.

The action ends a two-year holdup for the cross-state freeway. A dispute between officials and residents of Hillside and Newark resulted in the Federal Bureau of Public Roads rescinding approval of the highway's alignment earlier this year.

Gov. Robert B. Meyner said this week the government had reinstated its original approval.

The announcement said it would be at least another 12 to 18 months before the highway department could advertise for bids on construction of the highway in the Essex-Union County area. It hopes to finish the road through Essex and Union Counties by the end of 1965.

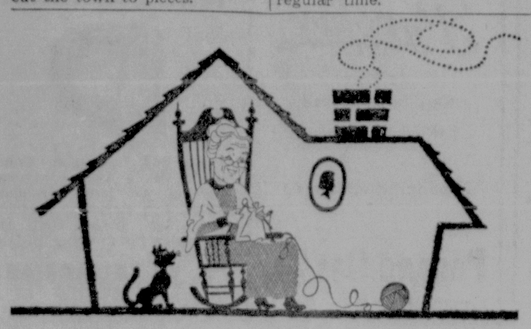

Portions of Route 78 have been built in Warren and Hunterdon Counties, but the eastern section has been held up through years of disputes over alignment.

The squabble between Hillside and Newark developed when Weequahic residents said the approved alignment would do too much damage to their area. They sought an alternative which Hillside claimed would cut the town to pieces.

PM Schools Closed Monday

POCONO Mountain Joint Junior-Senior High School, the Barrett Elementary Center, the Coolbaugh Elementary Center, the Pocono Elementary Center, and the Tobyhanna Elementary Center will be closed on Monday, December 4.

All schools will reopen on Tuesday, December 5, at the regular time.
